Widespread Night Air Raids on Nazi Europe Indicated

Follow Heavy Blows by 6,500 Planes During Day From Britain and Italy

LONDON, May 29 (AP).—United States heavy bombers and fighters, possibly 2,200 strong, shot down 100 enemy aircraft and hammered seven aircraft factories in Poland and Germany and a synthetic oil works near Stetten today.

The blow was the heaviest dealt in a day of perfect weather which saw approximately 6,500 sorties flown from Allied pre-invasion bases in Britain and Italy.

R.A.F. night raiders began the parade of aircraft from Britain early in the morning, striking Angers in France, Ludwigshafen in Germany and other targets.

The daylight American blows cost 35 bombers and 11 fighters.

German radios later sounded warnings that bomber formations were approaching Osnabruck-Muenster, air raid alarms sounded in Berlin, the Cologne radio reported nuisance raiders were headed for West and Northwest Germany, the Budapest radio issued a raid warning and the Vichy radio left the air, indicating widespread follow-up night attacks.

While British-based heavy bombers were flying across Northern Europe, between 500 and 700 heavies from Italy, with matching escort, headed into Austria and bombed a German airframe factory at Atzgersdorf, a few miles southwest of Vienna, the Wollersdorf ferry plane base and the Nord airfield, both near Wiener-Neustadt. The losses of the Mediterranean raiders were not immediately announced.

REPORT ANOTHER RAID ON ROME

The Berlin radio asserted a British and American bomber squadron carried out another raid against Rome during the day, causing heavy destruction and at least 100 deaths in the Sao Paolo quarter.

The climax of a day in which Allied raiders scourged the face of Europe from Polish factories to possible battlefields in Western Europe, and present front lines in Italy was struck by the 1,000 American heavy bombers which, for the second day in a row, had an escort of more than 1,200 long-range fighters.

They swept about 750 miles across Germany, bombing aircraft plants at Poznan, Poland; Ikreising (Krzesinki), five miles to the southeast, the Eastern and Southern German cities of Liepzig, Tutow, Sorau and Cottbus, and the Politz synthetic oil plant, 85 miles northeast of Berlin.

Hour-Long Street Fight in Montreal

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP).—Two radio patrolmen and a detective were injured and two men were arrested by gas-masked policemen today, as the outcome of a street fight which snarled traffic on busy west central St. Antoine Street.

As police stormed a St. Antoine Street home after releasing tear-gas bombs, firemen stood by ready to aid in the disturbance which had at first been reported to police as a murder.

Booked at detective headquarters on charges of assaulting police officers and disturbing the peace were James Boyle, 25, and James Butler. The hour-long fracas started in front of Boyle's home.

Sale of Jap Property in B.C. Opposed

Counsel Terms It Unconstitutional

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—J. A. MacLennan, of Vancouver, solicitor for a group of Japanese residents of Canada, argued before Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson in the Exchequer Court today that sale of the property of Japanese in Canada was a violation of their civil rights and was unconstitutional.

Mr. MacLennan, acting for four Japanese, owners of residential property in Vancouver, asked that orders in council giving the custodian of enemy property the right to sell property of Japanese residents of Canada be declared unconstitutional. As an alternative he sought an injunction preventing the sale of the property.

The Crown, represented by F. P. Varcoe, deputy minister of justice, opposed the application.

Mr. MacLennan said he considered the removal of the Japanese from the Coastal area of British Columbia a war measure which was "well taken," but the property they had left should be available to them when the "protected area" restrictions were removed and the Japanese allowed to return.

From Europe, Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright 1944, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, May 29.—The public is concentrating on the Italian campaign with greater eagerness than ever.

The Times' special correspondent on the Anzio front cables: "The most striking development of the last 24 hours is that the Via Casilina (Highway Six) has ceased to serve the Germans as an effective supply line for their troops between Frosinone and Arce.

"The thrust through Cori, after the taking of Cisterna, has brought the American troops to within a few miles of the highway, which was under fire from German guns.

"Even without this approach, the air forces' sweeps had already made Highway Six almost unusable.

"It is clear now that the Germans' hold on it has become so precarious that withdrawal of their divisions from the Liri Valley is being made, not in the direction of Rome, but northwards and northwestwards along the Sora-Vezzano and Alatri-Subiaco roads.

"The American advance towards Highway Six is virtually splitting the German armies in two—one part retiring into the Apennines, and the other defending the Alban Hills.

"Judging from the German wireless, the latter troops have only been allotted to a delaying task, the surrender of Rome being already anticipated.

"The road between Cori and Artena is a sight to be seen. Allied bombers caught the German convoys here in mass, and for miles there is a trail of scrap metal, consisting of wrecked and burned-out vehicles, every type of tank, self-propelled guns, lorries, staff cars and field kitchens. It is a terrible lesson in the meaning of air superiority.

"While the Fifth Army is driving hard in the direction of Highway Six, it also is pushing out north-

Smoke Generators for Invasion

—National Film Board Photos.

Smoke generators, produced in Canadian chemical factories, will form an important part of invasion technique to provide cover for advancing infantry. Canada's production schedule for chemicals reached a peak in 1943, and after a slight tapering off, again spurted forward early this year to meet renewed demand for shells. Above, left, is a stack of smoke generators ready for shipment, and right, Canadian infantrymen charging through a smoke barrage.

Canadian Invasion Troops Get Praise; Tension Soars in Reich

LONDON, May 29 (CP).—General Dwight D. Eisenhower, inspecting invasion-primed Canadian troops, praised their battle fitness, it was disclosed today as civilian Britain, in a holiday interlude, observed a sunny and serene Whit Monday. The invasion commander returned to Supreme Allied Expeditionary Force headquarters today.

Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commander of the First Canadian Army, accompanied Gen. Eisenhower on his inspection tour.

Across the Channel, a Nazi radio commentator declared Germany would prefer for the invasion to come today rather than tomorrow, and said the Allies already had let pass a favorable invasion date when weather tides were perfect.

German broadcasts reflected increased tension in Marshal Von Rundstedt's entire invasion front facing this troop-packed island today as temperatures over the glassy Strait of Dover reached an unofficial 100 degrees shortly before noon.

The expressed Nazi preference for invasion today suggested that enemy defences at least once already had been brought back to a nerve-wracking peak of alertness, only to find that Hitler's Command had guessed wrong.

"It is no longer a secret that the British have already missed one invasion date," the German Transocean Agency said, quoting a Foreign Office spokesman. D.N.B., the official enemy agency, said "there can be no doubt that the original date fixed for invasion has passed, but there are so many symptoms and speculations in connection with the next date that Germany cannot possibly be taken by surprise."

The Swiss newspaper, Gazette de Lausanne, gave a new clue to the defence problem of Von Rundstedt, complicated by railroads tangled and snarled by profusions of Allied bombs. The newspaper said there was increasing fear of a general D-day strike of French railroad workers, and that the Nazis were sending in more key transportation officials and workers for key posts.

In these last days before the June full moon, Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's Army of the West has taken up its final defensive position—from which the Nazis admit they dare not budge even to avert disaster in Italy—to meet the shock of an approaching invasion in which the Germans are saying the whole course of the war will be decided this Summer.

The Germans, with a nervous eye on the French Channel coast and contending with the specire of a heavy assault by Soviet Russia from the East, also have haunting fears that the Allies intend to break into Fortress Europe through Scandinavia.

This is reflected in the worst wave of Nazi terror yet experienced in Norway and Denmark, according to reports from Stockholm. Thirty Norwegian patriots have been executed since May 1, and in Denmark 19 high Danish officials and military men are under arrest, charged with participating in a secret military organization, the reports said.

Ready to spring, the Allies warned Europe's underground, Saturday, to keep off the roads when the invasion armies fight their way into the continent from the west, to take cover from bombardment, to maintain discipline and to follow the orders of their leaders implicitly. The warning was beamed to the continent from supreme headquarters.

To Discuss Postwar International Body

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP).—State Secretary Cordell Hull announced tonight that he was ready to proceed with discussions with Great Britain, Russia and China on the organization of an international security body.

The "first phase" of his talks with the Senate postwar advisory committee on foreign policy has been concluded, the secretary said in a statement, and it is this fact which brings him up to the point of undertaking talks on a four-power basis.

Mr. Hull's statement said, in part:

"The door of non-partisanship will continue to be wide open here at the Department of State, especially when any phase of the planning for a postwar security organization is under consideration."

Ask Damages as Result of Crash

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP).—Claims totaling more than $66,000 were made before Mr. Justice Orville S. Tyndale today by residents of the Griffintown area of Montreal whose homes were damaged April 25 when a Liberator bomber crashed and resulted in the death of 13 persons. Mr. Justice Tyndale was appointed special commissioner to hear the demands.

Forest Fires in Five Provinces Rage Unchecked

(By The Canadian Press)

Forest fires raged unchecked in parts of five provinces yesterday as thousands of weary fire-fighters looked in vain for rain—only hope of halting the widespread series of outbreaks.

In Ontario alone 10 fires raged out of control, one of them having already swept over an area of 64,500 acres. In Alberta four new fires were reported out of control in the Peace River area, while new outbreaks also were reported in New Brunswick and fires still burned in parts of Quebec and British Columbia.

In the last week 114 fires have been reported in Ontario. Ten still are out of control while 86 are out and 18 are being held. Fifteen to 20 new fires are being reported each day.

Henri Keiffer, chief of the Quebec Provincial Forest Protection Service, reported that fires in the province's Abitibi district were "stationary," while conditions were improved in the Lake St. John district. However, spreading fires still burn in the St. Lawrence area and near the New Brunswick boundary.

Little news was available on the two latest outbreaks in New Brunswick—one near Jacquet River in the north of the province and the other along the Dungarvon River in the northeast.

Fogo Resigns Post

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—The Munitions Department tonight announced the resignation, effective tomorrow, of J. Gordon Fogo, of Halifax, as associate co-ordinator of controls, which he had held since joining the Department in 1942. It was learned that a successor will be named shortly.

Soviet Planes Raid Romania

LONDON, May 29 (CP).—Softening up enemy air strength in Romania, the Red Air Force struck airdromes near Roman and Husi today and destroyed or disabled at least 60 planes, a Soviet communique announced tonight.

Roman is on the Siretul River and Husi on the Prut. Both are between the Carpathian Mountains and the Dnestr River.

At the airdromes, said the Soviets, after silencing anti-aircraft fire our planes carried out several bombing and machine-gun attacks, destroying or damaging 60 enemy craft.

Both the Russian and German communiques said there was little activity on the ground. The Soviets said 35 enemy planes had been shot down in air combat or by anti-aircraft fire Sunday. The Nazis claimed successful air attacks on Soviet supplies and rail stations in the areas of Shepetovka and Korosten.

Nazi Says Allied Prison Camps Fair

LONDON, May 29 (CP).—A German war reporter in a broadcast from Calais said tonight that German prisoners of war recently repatriated described their treatment in English camps as "on the whole correct and fair and in accordance with the Geneva Convention.

"The same was said about prisoners' camps in Canada," the broadcaster continued.

Chinese War Situation Serious on All Fronts

With practically no new equipment received in the past year, the war situation in China was very serious, although Chinese soldiers were fighting valiantly with what little they had, Bishop Paul Yu-pin, Vicar Apostolic from Nanking, China, and trusted friend of Chiang Kai-shek, said on his arrival in Victoria yesterday.

"We are waiting for planes, and we have no gasoline. The war situation is very serious on all fronts; North, East and South. Airplane transportation is very poor," His Excellency stated, adding that main hope lay in the opening of the road from India, for which General Stilwell and two crack Chinese divisions were fighting, but it would take six months to put that road into shape. If Chinese troops fighting from the China side and the American general were successful, supplies would once more flow into China, giving new life to their long struggle.

The tall, young-looking bishop, a leader of Roman Catholic Chinese, told his story with a matter-of-factness that belied the dramatic faith and suffering he had seen in the past four years, ever since his last visit to this continent. Born in Manchuria, which he says is still Chinese, in spite of Japanese occupation, "and there are 30,000,000 Manchurians who think as I do," he has no illusions about the enemy's fighting men. Their flyers are not exceptional.

Ninety per cent of the time they miss the target," he said, "their eyes are very bad and they are not very good at precision bombing. They have no initiative in bitter fighting, no aplomb. They are nervous in big battles, while our Chinese boys are calm, deliberate fighters," he explained. Trained in China, the Chinese flyers also receive instruction in the United States for a six-month period.

His Excellency gave a graphic account of a China that fights valorously, of young flyers with keen vision, of phlegmatic farmers driving their water buffalo in the very face of the enemy, and of old people waiting impassively, with age-old wisdom, for the intruder to be driven out.

His particular territory with headquarters at Chungking, covers nearly all of seven provinces in three fighting areas. For four years his time has been spent caring for

Partisans Attack German Garrison

LONDON, May 29 (CP).—A broadcast communique from headquarters of Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans said today that 100 German soldiers were killed and many wounded in an attack by Partisan troops on the Nazi garrison at Trebinje.

A big store of arms and food was captured in an action which cost the Partisans two dead and 22 wounded, the bulletin said.

Price Ceilings on Fruit Caused by Complaints

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—Finance Minister Ilsley said today in the Commons that the ceilings fixed by the Prices Board on this year's strawberry crop were "not devised to favor one province or another."

Mr. Ilsley said that ceilings had to be placed on fruits and vegetables this year, because thousands of complaints were received last year when the prices of fruits and vegetables were left uncontrolled.

The minister spoke during a debate set off by G. A. Cruickshank (L., Fraser Valley) who moved that the House adjourn debate to discuss the British Columbia berry marketing problems. Mr. Cruickshank withdrew his motion after Mr. Ilsley finished speaking.

When the sitting opened, Mr. Ilsley announced the Dominion and the provinces have agreed to increase from $65 to $125 a year the amount old-age pensioners may receive in addition to the maximum pension of $300.

Trade Minister MacKinnon said that the limitation of 18 bushels an acre delivery quota for Western wheat has been dropped for the remainder of the present crop year which ends July 31.

PRICE DOUBLE THAT PAID IN 1942

The ceiling price for British Columbia berries was set at 27 cents a quart, Mr. Ilsley said. The price was more than twice as high as the price paid for British Columbia berries in 1942 and three times as high as the 1941 price.

British Forces Occupy Arce As Via Casilina Cut; Battle for Rome Rages On Furiously

To Work But Will Not Accept Wages

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP).—More than 8,000 workers will remain at their jobs, without pay, at two Brewster Aeronautical Corporation plants, in protest against termination of a navy contract and in order to hold the working force together for other possible contracts, a union official said today.

Eight thousand workers in the Long Island city plant and 300 workers in the Johnsville, Pa., plant were scheduled to be dismissed today as a result of the contract termination, due July 1.

New Drive By Japanese

CHUNGKING, May 29 (AP).—A new Japanese drive southward from Yoyang (Yochow) in the widespread Hunan Province offensive is threatening Siangyin, 30 miles north of the Canton-Hankow Railway city of Changsha, Chinese field dispatches said today.

Siangyin's fall would protect the right flank of the main Japanese body advancing toward Changsha from newly-gained positions south of the Sinchiang River, crossed Saturday night by the Japanese in a 20-mile drive.

The main body was reported to have advanced more than seven miles from its new position toward Changsha, as other prongs of the offensive fanned westward toward Central China's rich rice-growing area, and eastward to attack Chinese concentrations in Southern Hupeh Province.

Thrice repelled from Changsha by forces of General Hsueh Yueh, Governor of Hunan and known as the "Little Tiger" of Central China, the Japanese appeared aiming at a fourth battle there, and ultimately at complete control of the Canton-Hankow Railway.

In a drive to protect the left flank of their main body, other Japanese troops have struck southeastward from Yoyang and reached the outskirts of Tungcheng, in Southern Hupeh Province 45 miles southeast of Yoyang.

At the same time, another enemy force struck westward between Tungting Lake and the Yangtze River, and the thrust appeared to be developing into a push on Kungan, in Hupeh Province, about 75 miles northwest of Yoyang.

Kungang was further threatened by another Japanese move. Enemy troops crossed the Yangtze River north of Shasi, 30 miles northeast of Kungang.

Synagogue Burns

TORONTO, May 29 (CP).—Fire of mysterious origin today destroyed the interior of a Jewish synagogue on Huron Street in West-Central Toronto, with damage of less than $3,000. District Fire Chief Percy Taylor later asked the Ontario Fire Marshals office to investigate the blaze.

Aaron Shnimmerman, president of the congregation, was unable to provide any theory as to what caused the fire.

BRITISH M.P. IN U.S.

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP).—Sir Oliver E. Simmonds, member of the British Parliament, arrived here today on his way to Australia. Sir Oliver, chairman of the British Joint Air Transport Committee and chairman of the board of Simmonds Aerocessories, Ltd., said: "It is clear there will be a drive in the Pacific theatre which will necessitate further aeronautics development, and I will see what part my company can play in speeding things up."

Allied Wedge Driven Deeply Into Nazis' "Last-Ditch" Defence Line

LONDON, May 30 (Tuesday) (CP).—British forces occupied Arce on the South Italian front at the junction of the Via Casilina and Highway 82 at 9 a.m. Monday, a dispatch by Reuter's, British news agency, said today.

The Vichy radio said today the Allies had cut Italian Highway No. 6—the Via Casilina which is the main avenue of retreat for the Germans on the centre of the Italian front.

The report did not give the location of the break, but the Allies are threatening Valmontone, 22 miles southeast of Rome, and have had this route under artillery fire. It might refer to the section between Arce and Frosinone, already severed by Canadian capture of Ceprano.

Quoting Berlin military quarters, the radio said that Germans fighting in the Liri Valley still would be able to make their withdrawal over mountain paths.

BATTLE FOR ROME RAGES FURIOUSLY

NAPLES, May 29 (AP).—The battle for Rome—first great capital of Nazi-dominated Europe to fall within range of Allied guns—raged with mounting fury throughout today after an Allied wedge was driven deeply into the enemy's "last ditch" defence 16 miles from the Eternal City.

In a desperate effort to hold Rome at least until his battered forces far to the southeast could disengage and be withdrawn to the new line, Field Marshal Kesselring used reinforcements in a savage series of counter-attacks along a 17-mile front from the vicinity of Valmontone on at Via Casilina to Campoleone at the southern edge of the Alban Hills.

The pressure to the southeast was being maintained by Canadian and other troops of the British Eighth Army and by French infantry and American armor of the Allied Fifth Army. Canadian formations swept westward nearly six miles from Ceprano to the region of Poli after engineers threw several bridges across the Liri and Sacco Rivers.

The heavy counter-blows against the Allies in and around the Alban Hills slowed but did not halt the advance of British and American troops of the Fifth Army, who doggedly pressed their attack in the face of flame-throwers and withering artillery and small arms fire.

An Associated Press correspondent reported in a front dispatch that Allied tanks were attacking German strong points of armor, artillery and infantry on the slopes of the Alban Hills between Campoleone and Lanuvio at a point less than 16 miles southeast of Rome's outskirts.

To Consider Petition If Men Resume Work

WASHINGTON, May 29 (CP).—George W. Taylor, acting chairman of the United States War Labor Board, today promised to take up "as soon as the men have returned to work," the petition of C.I.O. and A.F.L. lumber workers' union for reconsideration of its refusal to grant wage increases in the Pacific Northwest.

In a telegram to Worth Lowery, international president, International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.), and Frank Chapman, representative of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (A.F.L.), Taylor said:

"Your petition for reconsideration has been received and in accordance with the board's rules of procedure will be given due and prompt consideration as soon as the men have returned to work."

Electors to Decide Fate Of De Valera

DUBLIN, May 29 (CP).—Electors of neutral Eire will decide at tomorrow's general election—the second in less than a year—whether Prime Minister De Valera's Government should be given a five-year lease of life or be replaced by a coalition administration.

If Mr. De Valera's Fianna Fail party obtains fewer than 70 of the 138 seats in the Dail, the Opposition groups will take control of the Government. That is the simple issue in the election, precipitated when the Government was defeated by one vote in the Dail May 9.

If Mr. De Valera is defeated, the new Premier is expected to be Gen. Richard Mulcahy, 57-year-old leader of the Fine Gael party, principal Opposition group. An experienced parliamentarian, he is a former army commander in chief and served as Defence Minister in the administration of William T. Cosgrave, who was president of the executive council of the old Irish Free State from 1922 to 1932.

Gen. Mulcahy succeeded Mr. Cosgrave as Fine Gael leader early this year.

Main reason for holding this election is that the vote last June 22 proved indecisive. The Fianna Fail party won only 67 seats, but was allowed to carry on as a majority Government until defeated by 64 votes to 63 on its bill providing for a Government-controlled rail and truck transport system.

Japs Stubborn In Defence of Biak Airdrome

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 30 (Tuesday) (AP).—American invaders of Biak are running into fierce enemy opposition near the Mokmer airdrome, headquarters announced today.

The troops which on Saturday invaded the largest of the Schouten Islands, 880 miles from the Philippines, were attempting to take the Mokmer airstrip from the coastal side.

They were less than two miles from the important field, one of three on Biak. This was a gain of more than one-half mile from the point reached yesterday.

Along the coast of British New Guinea, far to the east, Australian ground troops occupied Bunabun, 140 miles southeast of Wewak.

The Australians have been pushing northwest along the coast, pinching the by-passed Japanese in the Wewak area, since they captured Madang on April 25.

Forty Killed In Ecuador Revolution

President Resigns As Junta Formed

QUITO, Ecuador, May 29 (AP).—President Carlos Arroyo Del Rio and all members of his Cabinet resigned tonight after a revolutionary junta seized power in Guayaquil, Ecuador's main commercial city.

A general strike had broken out here, apparently in support of the Guayaquil revolt, in which 40 persons were reported killed after an uprising led by supporters of the exiled former President Velasco Ibarra.

Crowds paraded in Quito's streets, hailing the former president.

Arroyo Del Rio, a firm supporter of Pan-American solidarity, turned over his power to Dr. Fausto Navarro Allende, Senate vice-president, and took refuge in the United States Embassy.

The resigning president assumed office first as acting president in November, 1939, just before the death of President Mosquera Narvez.

In a bitter election the following

Victoria's Importance as Holiday Resort Will Grow, Official Says

Victoria's growing importance as a vacation centre, particularly during the Winter months, is a wartime development which will carry on when peace returns, and the benefits to this city will increase with the years, in the opinion of H. F. Mathews, of Montreal, general manager of Canadian Pacific Hotels. Mr. Mathews is visiting Victoria in the course of a routine inspection of Company hotels.

With Southern United States playgrounds blocked to Canadians during the war, the efforts carried on consistently through the years to build up Victoria for Winter vacations have brought the city forcibly to the attention of those who formerly went south in Winter almost automatically. Those who have come to Victoria during the past two Winters have been "sold" on this city and district, and will come back again, he said.

Mr. Mathews stated hotels were finding it increasingly difficult to maintain high standards under wartime conditions which had brought many scarcities. Manpower was the chief problem at the moment. Hotels were not classed among essential industries, and hence found it more difficult than many other undertakings to obtain help.

"However," he commented, "National Selective Service has been most reasonable and fair in trying to help, as far as permitted under the regulations, to keep up permanent hotel staffs. In that respect the section of the Canadian public dependent upon hotel accommodation is much more fortunate than the public elsewhere, including the United States.

"With this assistance from Selective Service, and the loyalty of the older members of staffs who have taken on additional work and responsibility, standards have been well maintained," he added.

He stated Summer resort hotels would not be opened this year, first because of the desire of the authorities to keep unessential travel at a low point, and secondly because of the shortage of help.

CITY WILL GAIN BY NEW HOTEL AGREEMENT

Mr. Mathews was hopeful that Victoria ratepayers would endorse the Empress Hotel taxation by-law on which they vote June 26.

"The new agreement negotiated between the city and the hotel, which requires the endorsation of the property owners, provides that the company will pay $34,000 annually by way of fixed taxation on the hotel and site; and that the company wil pay the ordinary rates for water used by it in the hotel or laundry, which, based upon past consumption, will approximate $10,000 a year. This makes a total of $44,000," Mr. Mathews stated.

"This represents a large increase in city revenue over the past 20 years, for under that agreement," he stated, "the company has been paying $10,000 a year on hotel buildings and land and $5,000 for all water consumed upon the hotel property and in the laundry and power house, a total of $15,000.

"In addition to paying the increased amounts in taxes and water rates, the railway company has expressed its willingness to renew the lease of the Crystal Garden for a similar period, although operation of the amusement centre has not been profitable to the company," Mr. Mathews said.

"The new agreement, if endorsed, will give the city increased revenue and assure operation of the amusement centre for the next 20 years. The Canadian Pacific has agreed to the proposed terms, and the City Council has unanimously recommended them to the ratepayers. I sincerely hope that the by-law carries," he asserted.

wards up the Citernavel-Letri road, and farther south in the gap between the Alban Hills and the sea. The British forces are engaged here and are now beyond Molletta Creek.

"The fighting Saturday evening seemed to be nearing Velletri. To drive up as I did today (Sunday) from Naples to what was four days ago the 'beachhead' is a revelation.

"Through all this area, the war seemed weeks away. Demolished bridges have been repaired, craters filled up and refugees are streaming back to their homes, carrying bundles of household gear, and driving carts full for furniture."

The Times editorially says: "The battles in Italy are at their height, but the certainty of an outstanding victory is apparent. All that is now in doubt is how fast and how far the enemy can be driven.

"Alexander has shown especially faultless judgment in the timing of his blows. His was the choice of the precise moment when the advance from the Anzio beachhead could be launched with the decisive effect that now enables him to threaten the enemy with disaster.

"The chances improve hourly that the gigantic enveloping movement which has developed out of the Anzio bridgehead may cut the enemy's essential lines of retreat and sweep his whole army back into the Apennines, where he must risk disaster on a scale as great as that which befell him in Tunisia a year ago.

"One very welcome consequence of the success of Alexander's enveloping tactics is that, thereby may be avoided what the civilized world has regarded with apprehension for so many months—a battle in the streets of Rome."

Fresh light on the Bulgarian crisis is given by The Times' Ankara correspondent. He cables that the confusion which is still prevailing in the Bulgarian political situation points to the approach of a major crisis in that country.

That is the penalty of a double-faced policy pursued by Bulgaria's leaders in an effort to reconcile the irreconcilables—to placate Germany and to humor Russia.

Forest Fires

No fresh reports were received today from Nova Scotia or British Columbia. In the former province progress of all fires was checked at the week-end, while in the latter a 70,000-square-mile area between Prince George and the Yukon border was threatened with destruction.

Two of the Peace River area fires in Alberta are near Eureka River, about 16 miles from the town of Peace River, and the other two are between Whitefish Lake and Wabasca, 170 miles north of Edmonton.

In Manitoba five new fires were reported near The Pas, and Chief Fire Ranger R. Harvey warned at Winnipeg that all woods operations may be halted.

Builders Select Their Officers

V. L. Leigh was elected president of the Victoria Builders' Exchange at the annual dinner held in the Empress Hotel last night, replacing C. J. McDowell. G. H. Wheaton was elected vice-president, and W. J. Hamilton was again named secretary-treasurer. A full slate of directors was also appointed.

Robert J. Leckie, Vancouver, secretary of the British Columbia construction control advisory committee, was guest speaker. "We need apprentices very badly in the construction industry in British Columbia," he explained, adding that training returned men and giving them some first-class practical work was the best way to get them. Such training was a provincial responsibility, while the Federal Government made it possible to carry out the plan.

New building regulations had smoothed the way to faster handling of applications for domestic house-building, he said. Applications, which had increased tremendously during the past three months, would be passed on to Ottawa at the rate of 100 a week, in order of precedence. "We shall get a bit of backlog, partly due to limitation of supplies," he explained.

"The best fighting timber in the world is British Columbia fir. There is not nearly enough to go around, but overseas orders have to be filled first, no matter how desperate people at home are for housing," he stated.

L. Scott moved a vote of thanks to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., for the efficient help he had given contractors and supply men here. "It does not matter what your affiliations are. He will listen to you and will get results," he declared.

G. H. Wheaton reported for the special committee on finances, and moved that dues should be raised to $16 yearly for general contractors, and $8 for sub-contractors. He remarked that Vancouver fees were much higher. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. McDowell told of the activities of the past 12 months, and said he looked forward to excellent conditions during the coming year. "As far as the building industry of Canada is concerned, and Victoria especially, I feel things are improving. Give the returned men and the war workers the opportunity to get out, and they will look after themselves," he said.

The new president, Mr. Leigh, told of the new wage agreement between the carpenters and builders, giving $1.10 an hour for a 44-hour week, with provision for a slight increase after the war, and the meeting voted in favor of signing a contract. He praised the work of Mr. McDowell during the past year.

The full slate of directors appointed for the coming year was W. Luney, J. A. Pollard, H. J. Langdon, A. Davies, J. N. Anderson, F. Hawes, G. Ede, W. R. Menzies, C. Bartle and D. Smith.

Jap Property

"The Government had a duty to step in and protect the property, but that is as far as it goes," he said.

Forms signed by the Japanese when they turned the property over to the custodian said the transfer was voluntary and it implied a contract with the Crown.

"The property is rented at a profit and there is no necessity for its sale," he said. "It doesn't add one iota to the war effort."

Mr. Vareoe had previously argued that the case was improperly taken against the Crown and should have been directly against the custodian because he was a statutory officer and not an agent of the Crown.

He listed a number of cases to establish that the orders in council passed under the War Measures Act were constitutionally sound and said that the orders had not made the Crown a trustee of the property. The case will continue tomorrow.

Italian Front

The Cairo radio said in a Greek-language broadcast that the Allies occupied Lanuvio.

He said enemy counter-attacks employing as much as a battalion of infantry and four 60-ton Tiger tanks at a crack were beaten back and that tank-led British and American infantry had made progress all day.

Allied headquarters announced that three of 18 German divisions engaged in the battle had been virtually destroyed since the Allied offensive began May 11, with more than 15,000 in prison cages. Combat strength of enemy divisions now was estimated at 8,000 men.

British and American beachhead forces launched a powerful new drive toward Campoleone — almost due south of Rome — Sunday and by Sunday night were within a mile of the German stronghold. Other British troops smashed through Aprilia, the model farm community which changed hands four times in the early phases of the beachhead fighting several months ago.

Campoleone marked the high tide of the original Allied advance after the beachhead was established more than four months ago. A British spearhead was trapped there and fought its way free after suffering heavy losses.

At their furthest surge to the north and east, beachhead forces were fighting tonight within 2,000 yards of Valmontone, on the shell-torn Via Casilina, 21 miles east and slightly south of Rome. Other formations were battling in the outskirts of Velletri, nine miles southwest of Valmontone.

CANADIANS PUSH UP SACCO VALLEY

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, May 29 (CP).—Canadian armored and infantry units today pushed slowly up the valley of the Sacco River towards the big town of Frosinone, 11 miles northwest of captured Ceprano. They encountered light opposition but were delayed by mines and enemy demolitions.

The advance, in which Maritime tanks led the way, carried the troops several miles beyond Ceprano, key town on Highway No. 6—which runs through Frosinone and Valmontone to Rome. Ceprano was occupied by the Canadians last Saturday evening. The infantry moving ahead in lorries, followed close behind the armored formations.

Forward tanks, cutting across country and along tracks on both sides of Poli, five miles west of Ceprano, reported a minimum of opposition from enemy infantry and no enemy armor. But the tank crews reported the roads were strewn with mines. Every bridge across the numerous little streams along the route was blown up and consequently movement was slow.

The German shelling was heavy and ceaseless but mortar fire—the enemy's most vicious weapon up to the time the Canadians crossed the Metifa River last week—eased up. The most trouble was from self-propelled 75-M.M. and 88-M.M. guns.

Sappers were busy today clearing mines from Ceprano, a neat little town of 6,000 people. Italians were already returning to their homes, which were less seriously damaged than any along the route of the Canadian Corps' advance so far. They hung out British and American flags—a welcome Canadian troops had not received since they captured Compobasso in mountainous Central Italy during last Autumn's campaign.

The country through which the Canadians are advancing on a one-divisional front is rolling farmland, waist-deep in wheat. It is considerably less rugged than the Liri Valley with low hills on either side.

The reference to "a one-division front in the foregoing cable suggested that the armored division commanded by Maj.-Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister was, for the time being at any rate, the only Canadian formation in action.

The last reference to the First Division, commanded by Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, was in a front-line dispatch last Saturday by Doug How, Canadian Press war correspondent. This story said elements of both the two divisions in the Canadian Corps under command of Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns were butting ahead towards Ceprano.

Since then Ceprano has been captured, apparently by troops of Gen. Hoffmeister's division.

The armored division, which arrived in Italy last November, also includes three infantry regiments and the Westminster Regiment from New Westminster, B.C.

After the First Canadian Division had captured Orsona on the Adriatic in bloody fighting last December, the Canadian Corps held the Adriatic coast line during the Winter, its activity limited to patrols.

In the weeks prior to the launching of the Allied offensive in the Cassino-Garigliano Valley sector May 11, a number of Canadian regiments held a static sector of the front line in the bulge north of Cassino.

These included Ontario battalions, Martimers and the Westminster Regiment. They engaged in more than three weeks of patrolling warfare, similar to that on the Adriatic front they previously had helped to man.

This Canadian role was part of a screen behind which the commander of the British Eighth Army, Sir Oliver Leese, regrouped his army for the assault on the Gustav and Hitler lines in the main Allied offensive.

Powers Tells Young Liberals They Should "Be and Remain Canadians"

WINNIPEG, May 29 (CP).—Air Minister Power said here today that Young Liberals should "be and remain Canadians."

Addressing the national convention of Young Liberals, Major Power said "there should be a feeling Canada belongs to all of us."

"Let us have rivalry in politics, in business, competition in every walk of life, but let us have a feeling every part of the country is Canada."

Mr. Power said that interest in the political affairs of Canada by Young Liberals was bound to insure "the benefit of this Dominion."

The Liberal party was better fitted than any other to accomplish a most important task—the thorough Canadianization of Canada.

"There is only one way to accomplish your purpose. You must fight for your ideals and liberalise until the end of your careers.

"Let it not be forgotten that during the period when Canada made the greatest strides towards nationhood, the Liberal party has almost invariably been in office."

The Liberal party needed no charter or declaration and there was nothing vague or ill-defined about its policies. In international or national affairs, its views "are clean, specific, and on record. By that record we will stand or fall."

Liberals had an obligation to see that Canada's fighting men received all to which their sacrifices in the war entitled them.

"Our soldiers, sailors and airmen do not wish to be pampered, petted, or in other words to be slobbered over. We cannot pay them in money for what they have given up in blood, but they ask that we give them the same opportunities, the same rights and privileges which they would have had if they had remained in Canada."

Plans had been developed for rehabilitation, reconditioning and reconstruction of the ex-soldier, he said.

Price Ceilings

Last year British Columbia berries had sold at 33 cents a quart, but the price was due to the fact that the 1943 berry crop was only 2,543,000 quarts compared with 5,649,000 quarts in 1942.

Mr. Ilsley said some British Columbia members had asked him last Friday that the ceiling on strawberries be abolished. Their request was found to be undesirable.

"In 1943 the prices on fruits and vegetables skyrocketed and we received complaints from all over the country that we had no price ceiling at all. People said that we were keeping down the cost of some things, but were allowing fruit and vegetable prices to go uncontrolled."

Because of the increase in the fruit and vegetable prices last year it had been found necessary to allow restaurants to make an increased charge for tea and coffee served with meals. The increased charge was to cover the rise in the prices of fruits and vegetables.

DECIDED TO IMPOSE CEILING EARLY

"For those reasons we decided to impose a ceiling this year, and we decided to impose it early so that imported as well as domestic berries would be affected," he said.

Some members from Eastern British Columbia felt that the ceiling prices were being imposed too early in the season, he said. Their representations were still under consideration as there was some basis for their complaint. The same did not apply to the complaints of members from the coastal areas.

Mr. Ilsley said that G. G. McGeer (L., Vancouver Burrard) had tried during the debate to "speak half for the farmer and half for the packer."

"He can't have it both ways."

The ceiling price was set by the Prices Board after due consideration. "It is pretty hard to convince me it's an unreasonable price," Mr. Ilsley said.

The minister said he could not recall Donald Gordon, chairman of the Prices Board, having said as claimed by Tom Reid (L., New Westminster) that he did not care what were the farmer's production costs.

It was easy to attack officials doing extremely difficult jobs, E. J. Chambers, Prices Board administrator of fruits, had been a fruit grower in British Columbia, and had discussed the berry order with people in a position to know of such matters in British Columbia.

J. H. Blackmore, Social Credit House leader, suggested that a "well-placed" subsidy would solve the problem of ceilings on fruits and vegetables.

Allow Pensioners To Earn $125 Yearly

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—Negotiations with the provinces have brought about several changes in the regulations governing pensions to the aged and the blind, Finance Minister Ilsley announced today in the Commons.

The minister said the most important of the changes was one which would allow the pensioners an increased amount of outside income without a reduction in pension being made.

Under the amendments, made by orders in council, a pensioner now would be allowed outside income of $125 a year instead of $65 a year. This with the maximum pension of $300 annually would give a pensioner an income of $425 annually.

Back on the Job
● Yes, many life insurance men who during the past few weeks have sold millions of dollars of Victory Bonds, are back at their regular job. Imperial Life men are always prominent in Government loan campaigns.
Back at his own job, the Imperial Life man's work for Canada goes on and on. The dollars he encourages policyholders to invest in personal and family protection and future financial security, also help greatly in financing the war effort.
In Victory Bond and War Savings campaigns, the Imperial Life man is an important factor in national service. And, needless to say, he himself is a regular investor in these loans. Every day he contributes vital and essential aid to the war programme.

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
A.P. War Analyst

A dangerous Allied trap is in the making for battered Nazi divisions southeast of Rome. Already cut off from direct escape northward by an Allied Fifth Army lunge across the Cisterna saddle to within rifle range of Valmontone, they are being steadily compressed by the British Eighth Army push up the Sacco Valley from the southeast.

Allied capture of Valmontone at any moment seemed certain it would do more than sever the Via Casilina and its paralleling railway, main German communications trunk with the southeast. Five miles north of the town lies the secondary road and rail system linking Rome with Frosinone in the lower Sacco Valley.

If it also is cut or brought under Allied gunfire the plight of German troops still deployed along the Lepini ridge guarding the southwestern flank of the Sacco Valley would become critical, with only one other inadequate road northward still open to them.

A substantial part of the estimated eight Nazi divisions still southeast of the Valmontone partial road block must be posted in the Lepini hills. That force is already cut off to the south by the Canadian capture of Ceprano, cutting the Via Casilina connection with the important highway northward along the upper Liri Valley.

It looks as if the Allied field commander, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, were repeating the "piston" tactics he made famous in Tunisia. Again the Eighth Army is serving as the piston head with the Sacco Valley as the cylinder through which it is compressing the foe and the Fifth Army attempting to seal off the head of the valley at Valmontone against German retreat to the Rome defence perimeter.

There seemed little question that Gen. Alexander was within sight of achieving in the Sacco Valley his objective of destroying much of the two Nazi armies facing him in the field.

Let a regard for what is honorable ever govern the mind.

Ask Berry Subsidy

"In order to sell through trade channels and keep organizations together, it is imperative to have a subsidy of 5c a pint on original price ceilings. Failing this, chaos will result," said Vancouver Island strawberry growers in a telegram sent to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., at Ottawa, following a meeting at Saanich on Sunday.

The telegram was signed by representatives of Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association, Vancouver Island Co-operative Association, Duncan Co-operative Association, Cowichan Co-operative Association, Mount Newton Co-operative Association, Saanich Co-operative Association, Metchosin Co-operative Association, Sooke Co-operative Association, Colwood Co-operative Association, Langford Co-operative Association, Sidney Co-operative Association, Deep Cove Co-operative Association, Mount Douglas Co-operative Association, Mount Tolmie Co-operative Association, Gordon Head Co-operative Association.

Mr. Mayhew's suggestion that the berry price should remain open until June 15, and the ceiling dates proposed by the Federal member, were endorsed.

Inside, Looking Out

It is probably impossible, outside of Europe itself, to realize all that must by now lie on the German mind. The Nazi bid for world supremacy has been counted out. The campaigns to defeat Russia have failed. The attempts to flatten Great Britain, by sea and by air, have recoiled. The peoples of Europe hate the "New Order" still more thoroughly now than they did four years ago. To the East there is a massive, formidable army, unbeaten. To the West that condition is repeated, with the greatest concentration of air and sea power the world has known. The drawstrings of the net are closing steadily. Germany has her "encirclement" at last.

We may not know, but Germany does, how many German men have fallen in battle. We may not see, but Germany does, what really follows a month of "block-busters," falling like a steady rain. We may not be able to estimate, but Germany can, how much "fight" there is left in a people whose plans have gone awry, a people—willingly or unwillingly—betrayed by false leaders and false gods. For the world there is a very long score to even, and Germany knows that, too.

Wars turn upon major issues, not on little ones. When the Axis sundered, when Germany and Japan could effect no junction, when the blitzkrieg itself was worn down and stopped—the enemy's bid had failed. The survival first, and then the union, of the United Nations was another major consequence. That meant matching forces, with the production scales heavily tipped in our favor. Our production was external, and unreachable; Germany's internal, and harrassed. And not even Germany would deny the strength of the arm that fights for the right, as we are fighting.

Inside Germany, looking out, these things are known and recognized. Moreover, they are given their true, effective weight, with all their gaps—that we cannot know—filled in. From a military standpoint, that knowledge must lie heavily on the shoulders of the German High Command, concerned now with the shortage of men, the insufficiency of materials and supplies, the slipping morale of a nation that knows it is beaten before the final battles have been joined. Very cleverly, very accurately, the United Nations' leaders are playing hard on those raw nerves. The Reich has suffered a thousand "invasions" in its guilty conscience, each one more nerve-wracking than the last. And still there is "D" Day to come. Very tautly stretched is any German army so based and so circumstanced, a prey to its own nerves. It cannot be pleasant today inside Germany, looking out.

Edwin Tomlin

The death of Mr. Edwin Tomlin, well known throughout Canada as the president of the B.C. Cement Company, Ltd., at the Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday morning, at the age of fifty-nine, removes one of the senior business executives of this community. Widely known for his public interests and business acumen, the late Mr. Tomlin had been identified with cement manufacture in Canada since 1908; for many years of that time with the Butchart interests, and more recently as the head of the B.C. Cement Company, Ltd. He had been in ill health for some time.

Born in Kent, England, Mr. Tomlin came to Canada in 1907, being identified at first with the Canadian Pacific Railway. A short while after that he joined the staff of the Vancouver Portland Cement Company, and was for years connected with the Tod Inlet and Bamberton plants in executive capacities. It was in this period that he helped to organize the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association; became president of the Rotary Club; sat on the school board at Oak Bay, and did sterling work on the directorate of the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He was a Scottish Rite Mason, and a member of the Union Club and the Victoria Golf Club. He was a director of several leading British Columbia firms at the time of his death.

Although reserved in manner, Mr. Tomlin was one of the best informed men on Victoria matters, and his weight and influence has helped innumerable public causes in the course of the last three decades. He was known widely in British Columbia, and to a considerable extent across Canada in connection with his business interests. His passing will leave a gap in business circles which will not readily be filled. To his widow and family, The Daily Colonist desires to extend its sincerest sympathies.

Legion's Protest

Three branches of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., have memorialized the Provincial Government in opposition to the sale of the Cawston Beach lands to private enterprise. The Penticton, Summerland and Oliver branches of the Legion endorsed the complaint, which has now been laid before the British Columbia Cabinet. Without entering into the local, resident merits of case, are there not also some things to be said in favor of there being at least two sides to the question?

British Columbia, through its Government and Legislature, has already set aside 1,000,000 acres of tillable land which are to be given, free, to the Dominion to help in postwar land settlement projects. The Province is under no obligation to exceed that gift in land, which is both a magnificent and a munificent one, the lands carrying not only today's value, but also all of increment of enhanced values in the distant future. Even in British Columbia, a million acres is a sizable start for any plan.

Where did the Legion get the idea that no land was to be sold to private enterprise in British Columbia until the war ended? That is not what the people, at any rate, understand. The merits of the case may, indeed, be better known and appreciated in the area concerned, but what does any area matter when it comes to national rehabilitation itself? That is a nation-wide job, and British Columbia has thrown 1,000,000 acres into the common pool. Unless there are other, and unexpressed, reasons behind the protest, many will be at a loss to understand why it has been made.

The Figures Fade

One by one the star performers on the German side appear to be fading out of the war. Some of the top commanders are demoted or dead, and there have been times when that has been synonymous in the Reich. Ribbentrop might once have had a future as a champagne salesman, but as a diplomat his day is over. No one is afraid of the German "terror" now. Heidrich reached an end he had earned for himself, and had he died a thousand deaths that would scarcely have satisfied the eternal justice of the case. There are many more, but they are fading fast.

Hitler today is an object of derision among little children. Goering, like his Luftwaffe, grows thin. Goebbels, spitting venom, is going down fighting, but today not even the Reich cares what he says or does. No one wonders any more what will eventually become of Hess. It simply does not matter in today's scheme of things. Ley, the minister of "voluntary" labor; Himmler, with his murderers plain and murderers fancy—they are all nearing the end of their respective trails. They bet against history, and have lost.

History would have told them the answers without referring to the back of the book. History has seen tyrants rise, grow powerful, beastial, over-confident, languish and fall—usually to the swords of those they dragged up with them from the mire. The spawn of the world's gutter goes back to that gutter in the end. Long as their run may seem in any current day, it is very short in the pages of history, a chapter or two at most. Ten years from now, five perhaps, not one-tenth of these men will be remembered in any form, not even in infamy, which has the longest memory of all.

They bet against human nature, and lost. History will close their chapter, put in its own final footnote, and write "thirty" to the tale. Then the world will go forward again, with real men for leaders and human justice as a guide.

Seen in Passing

Make men privy to the worries and troubles of other men and they will be far more content with their own. The rich have their anxieties no less than the poor. What children may do is a problem in many homes. Life, death and sickness visit all without distinction. Each individual, if he only knew it, is probably best constituted to carry the burdens that he has, and these are the burdens he has grown used to. To be an alderman for a day may seem a gay life, but to be an alderman for 365 days every year is a little like catching a nettle—it must be grasped firmly or it will sting.

Anyone with guests in the city of Victoria should take them now to see the Street of the Hawthorn Trees. The white hawthorn blossoms are shading into rose, the rose into white, and along a whole avenue hundreds of yards in extent there is a variegated splendor that few communities in Canada could show at this time of the year. It is May Street, between Moss and Cook; and can be reached by the Number 6 car line, and, indeed, can be reviewed sitting down.

Quite the "busiest" man in a community will be he who has really nothing to do. He will be found "too busy" to attend to his home, to water his garden, to help at the club, to do other than a small boy's work in any human sphere. For the individual who has learned how to organize his work, and his mind, there is always time enough and to spare.

The Mills of the Gods

War clouds screen the starry heavens—
Death is lurking overhead—
Day by day the bombs are dropping;
Streets are glutted with the dead.

Homes of beauty lie in ruins;
Treasures trampled into dust;
All the world is full of sorrow,
Full of envy, greed and lust.

In the hour of darkness,
When perchance the guns are still,
You may hear the wheels yet turning
In that ancient, fabled mill.

Where the gods grind ever slowly,
But the measure will be true
Where that grist will be divided
Twixt the enemy and you.

Harbor Wanted

Frank M. Kelley

In an effort to reduce the time required to transport air-minded travelers between Victoria and Vancouver, Canadian Pacific Air Lines representatives have recently been investigating, it is said, possible bases on both Island and Mainland harbors. Time taken to motor passengers from the centre of this city to View Royal, where they now embark for the Mainland terminal on Sea Island from whence the trip to Vancouver must be completed by car, adds up to almost [illegible] ber of minutes consumed in the actual flight from airport to airport. The company would, therefore, like a base on Victoria harbor, as well as one on Vancouver's immediate waterfront.

Once upon a time Victoria harbor was used as a seaplane base. That was when this method of transportation was just getting into its stride. Not presenting many dangers with comparatively slow-flying machines, the arrivals and departures of the sky ships were nevertheless occasionally cause of some concern to skippers of ferry vessels entering or leaving the harbor here.

Although worrying to steamship operators, no move was made to interfere with the goings and comings of planes in daily service between Victoria and Seattle until an ambitious proposal was presented to Victoria for the establishment of an airport between Laurel and Shoal Points. This proposal was strongly objected to by both Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Steamship companies, and determinedly so, for the plan proposed several services and the employment of a number of pontoon and boat-type craft, the manoeuvring of which in the narrow and somewhat twisted channel of Victoria's inner harbor could easily spell accident for a plane load of passengers, or the grounding of a ship as the alternative. At least the possibility of accident was one of the principal arguments advanced against Victoria having an airport on this harbor more than a decade ago.

PROJECT WAS SHELVED

Representatives of the steamship companies were successful in having that airport project shelved, although there were individuals in Victoria who did not approve of the decision. Certainly with little or no control over the operations of planes in motion at that time it was probably the right thing to do. Wonder was something serious didn't happen at times in those pioneering days. Ordinarily the pilot coming in for a landing could see everything ahead and below. This was more or less so while he was taxi-ing his machine for the takeoff. Owing to the chance-taking habits of one pilot, some Victorians will remember an accident was always a possibility. Shortcutting across the southern tip of Vancouver Island, this particular flyer was not always sure of what was moving in the harbor ahead when making a sharp descent over the tops of downtown buildings to hit the water a short distance off Enterprise Wharf. That roof-skimming was a bit dangerous and might have resulted in a bad accident in time if the inner harbor area had not been ruled out of bounds for flying craft.

Winds bothering flyers are the same winds that bother steam vessels moving under slow bell in confined channels. Our prevailing winds are southeast and southwest. Both of these winds blow into Victoria's harbor mouth, and both help a machine get its "lift" into the air. When the winds were light the seaplanes could start taxi-ing leisurely from inside Laurel Point and by the time they rounded Shoal Point and drew out beyond Rithet Piers were generally leaving the water.

CRASHES NARROWLY AVERTED

There were often occasions, however, when the wind was too strong for the machines to go beyond Shoal Point before becoming airborne. This made it necessary for them to start down toward the Johnson Street Bridge in an effort to get up before reaching the harbor entrance, where the sea would be rough. It was under those conditions that collisions were narrowly averted when plane and ship happened to approach in the narrow channel between Laurel and Songhees Points, which they did several times. That nothing serious ever happened in connection with planes landing in Victoria harbor is no proof that it couldn't have, even if rigid regulations governing the operation of seaplanes had been in effect a decade ago.

If the objections advanced then had any justification they should still hold good. Ostensibly they were made with the safety of the traveling public in mind. The risk will always exist in the confined waters of Victoria's inner harbor. This is one more argument for the completion of the outer harbor basin started over 30 years ago and which is still not finished. With the west breakwater in place an airport could be located on the shore opposite the mouth of the harbor where the water would be smooth all the time and from where planes could easily manoeuvre. Starting off Colville Island a pilot would have a clear runway of more than 5,000 feet for a takeoff, great enough to get up with any load before reaching the opening between the breakwaters and the rough sea beyond.

Obviously, with the speeds promised by airplane manufacturers in days to come it will be necessary to provide bases as close to centres of traffic as it is possible to get. Communities able to provide the close-at-hand facilities for landing and taking off in protected waters will be in a favored position to take care of airborne traffic. With the outer harbor basin completed as originally contemplated, there could be several admirable sites available for seaplane operations.

FOR FRANCE

Sir,—In connection with the fund that is being raised for the children of France, I have today received the following letter, which speaks for itself.

(MME.) L. G. D'ESTRUBE.
280 Kenwood Avenue, Victoria, B.C.

Dear Mme. D'Estrube,—We are in national office, which reads as follows:

"With reference to your letter of May 13, we shall be pleased to receive the proceeds of the plays which the French-Canadian Club in Victoria are producing, which we shall be able to forward to France through the International Red Cross Committee at Geneva for the aid of starving children."

"We might mention in this connection that we forwarded a contribution some time ago to Geneva for the aid of starving children in France to the value of $5,000 and we understand the following products were included in the shipment: 85 cases of Ovaltine, 10 cases Cerelactine, 56 cases sardines. The shipment was made through donations received by the Junior Red Cross."

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

Sir,—The English language is the richest piece of tapestry the ages have produced, but the story of its making is too intricate to be recorded here. Wherever it is written or spoken, it is liable to misuse and even those who would preserve its purity may err. There is, however, nothing extraordinary in wishing to preserve its purity.

Something must be said about dialects because they form a very important part of the history of the English language. In the first place dialects were due to the fact that different, though allied, tribes became settlers, having drifted in during the course of a century. They were too scattered, however, to have intercourse. This condition produced the different dialects and in Old English we find at least four—Northumbrian, West Saxon, Kentish and Mercian.

The Northumbrian, or Anglian, and the West Saxon in the South, were distinctive. When the Norsemen ravaged the country they destroyed everything by way of manuscripts that came to hand. The result was the temporary crushing of the Northern tongue, which later passed into the Lowlands of Scotland. Supremacy in politics and letters then passed to the Wessex localities.

The most complete change came with the Normans in 1066. There were really two tongues for a time. The new rulers spoke French; the ordinary people clung to English, though this ceased for a while to be book speech. About 1205 came a dialectic revival but there was no literary standard. Changes in different parts of the country resulted from different dialects described as Early English. In the 13th and 14th centuries, books were written in three distinct dialects. A Gloucestershire canon named John of Trevisa stated in 1385 that English grammar school children were leaving French and construing and learning in English.

The Southern dialect, derived from the classical tongue of Wessex, died out and the Midland dialect became general—eventually passing into standard English. It became the book language and was first used at Cambridge, then at Oxford. The Southern English died out as book language, but survived as a dialect. Middle English was used at London and in the Court. Writers such as Chaucer and Gower made that speech classical and it was the standard language, or the King's English.

Though the English language was almost lost for a century and a half, it survived the most violent upheavals and became the most widely used tongue in the world. Ninety-six per cent of the words used in the English Bible are of native origin.

It is not surprising that we wish to preserve the purity of a tongue with such an amazing history.

STANDARD OF SPEECH

Sir,—If it be snobbery to wish one's children to speak decent English, then I am all for it. There is nothing inspiring in the cynical flippancy of present-day slang. Nowadays we hear it ad nauseum.

As to the statement that "slang is universal in England," I can only say that there are thousands of households where it would not be tolerated for a moment.

Is our language so poor that to express our meaning we have to resort to the speech of gangsters? Americans themselves are deploring this tendency.

Without lessening in the slightest degree our deep gratitude to America for its kind hospitality to English children, I certainly hope that example and discipline will eradicate the slang learned in their sojourn away from home, and that English children will keep their good breeding and respect for elders in which to their own detriment and loss, many of our modern young people are sadly lacking.

To some people democracy seems to mean not a raising up but hammering everyone down to the one dead level which makes it so much like Communism it is hard to tell them apart.

By G.B.

From an article in Pic about Nazi war prisoners in Rocky Mountain internment camps: "When their teams line up opposite each other on the football field, they raise their hands in the Hitler salute and stand in solemn silence for two minutes. Most of them are in top physical shape. Their well-built, suntanned bodies show no sign of under-nourishment. None of them [illegible] them is able to conceive that the systematic plunder, robbery and murder in which they had their share were as many hideous crimes. For them all these misdeeds were justified by the word 'war.' They liked war because it freed them their inhibitions. They say they believe in God, but have renounced adherence to any Christian church. They show no sign of broken morale. They are not unduly disturbed about the bombing of their cities. Used to reading nothing but lies in their own press, they automatically discount half of what they read in our newspapers. They are still convinced Germany can have a negotiated peace any day it wishes. They no longer believe in a complete German victory, but they consider the Allied nations plea for unconditional surrender a bad joke" . . . The C.C.F. has its counterpart in England, the Common Wealth party, which advocates nationalization of land, mines, transportation facilities and utilities. The movement was founded two years ago by Sir Richard Acland . . . From an industrial chemist: "According to a public statement made by the city engineer, he hopes that chlorination of the water from Sooke and Goldstream Lakes will eliminate iron oxide and moss from the water mains. If the mixture of chlorine and ammonia accomplishes that purpose, the two substances mentioned will give the water an acrid taste when dissolved"

Pensioners Have Ottawa Friends

Old age pensioners have many friends at Ottawa, George A. Dyson, executive counsell representative of the Old Age Pensioners' Association of British Columbia, was informed by R. W. Mayhew, M.P., in a letter received from the House of Commons.

Mr. Dyson interviewed Mr. Mayhew before the member left for Ottawa, and wrote to him on May 6:

"The old guard who helped Can- [illegible] them, so that they can live their remaining years in reasonable comfort and not have to merely exist on a pension that in some cases is less than the cost-of-living bonus received by those with good salaries. Old age pensioners have to pay rent, fuel, light and water before there is anything available for food, let alone medicine or the comforts which aged persons need."

Mr. Mayhew replied:

"I expect the Old Age Pension Bill will be brought down this session; at least, it is on the agenda, if we can ever get to it. There are certainly a very great many items yet to be considered before the House can even adjourn. Old age pensioners have many friends at Ottawa; friends on both sides of the House and in all parties. There is quite a different atmosphere here now to what there was four or five years ago. Today nearly everyone is prepared to support a reasonable change in pensions for the aged. I hope they are not long delayed."

West, figuring that there was no point in opening a suit that North obviously could ruff led the trump nine East could have made matters more difficult by ducking, but he thought there was a good chance that West might have the spade king, so he went up with the trump ace and led the ace and low spade, trying for a ruff. Declarer, needless to say, now drew the trumps and claimed the rest of the tricks, thus making the doubled contract with an overtrick.

If West had not been afraid of the very thing he should have welcomed—an immediate shortening of dummy's trumps through the necessity of ruffing clubs—the result would have been more satisfactory to his side. Dummy would ruff the club lead and declarer then could afford to lead one round of trumps, but if East properly held off declarer himself would then have to start the spades. East would win the second round and force dummy again with a club. Now declarer would be on the spot. If he led another trump, East would win and cash a club and the trump eight; if declarer didn't lead a second trump, he would be at the mercy of spade and heart ruffs from both sides.

Tight Squeeze—The Northwest Territory, in the Canadian Parliament, was taken over by a majority of only 11 votes. In the English Parliament, so close a vote would be a virtual defeat.

"I DANCED WITH JOY when I learned clothes don't need to look HALF-WASHED!"

JUST think! All you do is put a touch of Sunlight on those extra-dirty spots. Instantly a film of soap comes in contact with the dirt. Then, no matter how you do your wash, you'll find clothes come clean, sweet and bright. They don't have that "half-washed" look. They're really clean all over! Sunlight is great for dishes, too. So easy on hands.

Repatriated Prisoners Plead for Men They Left in German Stalags

BELFAST, May 29 (CP).—British, Canadian, American and South American boys who leaned over the rails of the repatriation liner Gripsholm here on Saturday didn't want to talk about Stalag 7B, a soup diet, or the Gestapo.

The boys from Canada wanted to know how Vancouver was; if there was any beer left in Toronto, and did I know their girl friend in [illegible] to a Canadian girl again.

There were 49 Canadians among the 900 sick and wounded prisoners of war and repatriated Allied civilians aboard the ship. All but 11 of the Canadians remained aboard to make the trans-Atlantic trip with the Americans. The 11 who disembarked with British repatriates here have destinations in the United Kingdom.

While a band played nostalgic music and the boys sang in snatches, officials went aboard and the boys at the railings concentrated on whistling at the girls on the dock—American Red Cross workers, Irish girl volunteer workers, British A.T.S. Wrens and W.A.A.F.S.

The Gripsholm is full of stories. [illegible] and blood and thunder. But they will never be written until the end of the war because every boy pleaded: "Remember the other guys the boys we left behind us, behind barbed wire. Please don't repeat anything that will hurt them."

HIGH COMMISSIONER AND REPORTER BRUSHED ASIDE

LIVERPOOL, May 29 (CP).—Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, was brushed aside yesterday by a lieut.-colonel as he spoke to a Canadian press reporter at the pier where 627 British and 11 Canadian prisoners of war, who had been exchanged for German prisoners, were being landed.

Mr. Massey and Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price, Canadian Red Cross commissioner in London, were talking to the reporter when the lieut.-colonel intervened. Mr. Massey had crossed from Belfast on the ship which brought the prisoners to Liverpool to be with his son, Capt. Lionel Massey, one of the prisoners.

The repatriated prisoners were not permitted to talk to reporters.

The lieut.-colonel had the reporter escorted out of the roped-off area where the prisoners of war were being welcomed back. As this took place, Canadians aboard the ship—who were watching the scene—shouted uncomplimentary remarks at the irate officer and demanded he be brought back.

Subsequently, he was permitted to return. The lieut.-colonel then told me he had been "violating regulations which forbade talking to prisoners. He had waved to Sqdn. Ldr. Foss Bolton, of Coleman, Alta., after he waved a greeting to the reporter, but hadn't spoken to any prisoner.

BELFAST JOURNALISTS PROTEST TO MINISTERS

LONDON, May 29 (CP).—Reuter's News Agency reported from Belfast today that the Belfast Branch of the National Union of Journalists has protested to Sir James Grigg, Secretary of State for War, and Brendan Bracken, Minister of Information, against the "insulting" way correspondents covering the arrival of the exchange ship Gripsholm on Saturday were treated.

refugees and soldiers of the Fourth Division. During that time he has traveled by plane, jeep and boat, and often on foot.

"There are many places where roads have been wiped out, and there is no way through except by walking," he stated.

Bishop Yu-pin is one of five chief "comfortera," the Chinese counterpart of chaplains. Of these he is the only Christian, but there are many Christian workers among the troops, and Christians are highly esteemed in China because of their splendid work. Of China's 500,000,000 people only 4,500,000 are Christian, and of these 4,000,000 are Roman Catholic, he said.

The war is consolidating the unity of the Chinese people. They were already united, His Excellency stated. "Here you emphasize too much the disagreements in China," he observed. Americans and Canadians should know from their own experiences that democratic freedom, giving a free voice to people of many ideas, brought difficulties and disagreements.

"Had China not been united it would have been impossible to fight as we have done for seven years. Unification was a fact before the war, but it has been consolidated," he explained.

Through it all the small Chinese farmers keep close to the land. When they see the Japanese coming they escape to the hills nearby, taking provisions for a week or two, confident that their men will retake the land, or the scourge pass by. Then they return to rebuild and farm their land.

"I have seen our peasants calmly driving water-buffalo on their farms on the south bank of the Yellow River, with Japanese sentries on the opposite bank. They know it is their only means of survival. They know the Japs may shoot some of them, but we have overwhelming numbers. Our old people have seen many wars. We have centuries of civilization and history back of us," he said, firmly.

Many families had been dispersed by the war, and there were countless orphans to care for. Mme Chiang Kai-shek, the different Christian missions, philanthropists and the state were doing all they could to take care of these unfortunates. Foster homes were found where possible, but so much more needed to be done.

"Medical supplies do not come, surgical instruments are also badly needed. We must have help to care for the children," he declared.

Ecuador Revolt

January he defeated Velasco Ibarra, whose supporters in a brief uprising were quelled.

Just a week ago President Roosevelt sent a message to Arroyo Del Rio congratulating him on the boundary settlement between Peru and Ecuador.

Major Manuel Antonio Hidalgo late today was named military and civil chief of Guayaquil by the provisional junta. The city was calm after earlier fighting, and civilians found armed were rounded up and confined in military barracks.

After rebel troops seized the military police barracks in Guayaquil, the revolutionists set up their provisional Government junta, which is holding meetings at a Government building.

Revolutionist troops, supported by tanks, seized the Guayaquil barracks of the carabineros, the military police. A proclamation issued by the revolutionists said the movement was supported by students and labor unions, and that new elections would be called by a revolutionary regime.

FORCE ALLIED TROOPS TO ABANDON POSITION

KANDY, Ceylon, May 29 (CP).—Reinforced Japanese units, launching a heavy attack against Chindit positions near the enemy's North Burma base of Mogaung, have seized a vital air strip and forced the Allied airborne troops to abandon important road blocks they had held for 17 days, headquarters disclosed today.

At the same time the Allies gained in their fight into Myitkyina, 35 miles to the east.

The main force of the Japanese attack near Mogaung, aimed at relieving the stricken 18th (Singapore) Division now falling back before Chinese in the Mogaung Valley, came from the south, a communique said. The fresh enemy concentrations first took the air strip and then threw the Chindits from their block southwest of Mogaung, which had cut the Mandalay-Myitkyina Railway.

The British airborne troops, commanded by Maj.-Gen. W. D. A. Lentaigne, who have been operating behind the enemy 18th Division, held out for five days under heavy attack before withdrawing after ex-[illegible] supplies.

Rains, bringing appalling jungle conditions, prevented regular aerial replenishment for the Chindit garrison defending the air strip.

On the Myitkyina battlefield, Allied troops have penetrated deeper into the city from the south, blocking a Japanese exit. A Chinese column swinging around from the southeast at the Zigyun ferry stormed the base and advanced some 1,000 yards to a point about a half-mile from the railway station, a communique said.

Lt.-Gen. Joseph T. Stilwell flew to Myitkyina and directed the new Chinese thrust after spending nearly two days studying the situation.

On the Indo-Burma front, operations have been impeded in the Manipur Hills by heavy rains, the communique said.

Night Air Raids

Sea 150 miles from the target we could still see black smoke rolling up to a height of 20,000 feet," said a bomber crew member.

The German air force fought back desperately and battles filled the clear Summer skies.

From the South, the Mediterranean Air Force dispatched between 500 and 700 heavy bombers with a matching escort of fighters to attack an aircraft plant and two important airdromes around Vienna, Austria, as well as German troop concentrations in Yugoslavia.

Both these major penetrations marked a switch from heavy bombardment of transportation to the old No. 1 priority target of the Nazi aircraft industry, and the Germans accepted the challenge to battle in the South as well as in the North.

Intelligence reports indicated the Germans had been given just enough time to make substantial repairs to their eastern aircraft plants, and the major daylight raids were designed to deprive them of the benefits.

Rocket-firing Typhoons, Typhoon fighters and bombers, Mustangs, Spitfires, Bostons and Mitchells flew all day long, some making two trips in attacks on radio installations, military buildings, rail yards and other targets.

Among targets attacked successfully by rocket Typhoons was an electric plant at Tingry, near Boulogne.

In 43 days, not including Monday, Allied airmen had:

Dropped more than 200,000 tons of bombs from more than 135,000 planes, destroying at least 1,880 German planes, losing 1,553 of their own.

TWELVE HOTEL PATRONS KILLED

Twelve out of 28 patrons of a South Coast hotel were killed by a direct hit in a German raid Sunday night.

Several South Coast communities, their names not officially announced, were attacked. The German radio said the main targets were Torquay and Brighton, resort cities.

Rescue workers still were digging this morning into the English South Coast town hotel.

In houses near the hotel a woman and child in a basement were blown through the wall into the next house, a dentist's quarters was blown up by another direct hit, and two children, six and nine years old, were trapped.

The German broadcast said: "Formations of heavy bombers dropped large masses of incendiary high explosive bombs on harbor installations, jetties and supply depots lit up by flares."

The broadcast claimed the attack on Torquay lasted for 50 minutes and declared, "several large spreading fires were observed in the harbor area." A heavy explosion lit up the target area."

Declaring that the Brighton attack was "short but sharp," the broadcast said explosions and fires were caused there.

Have Facts on Killing Airmen

LONDON, May 29 (CP).—The British Government tonight was [illegible] full facts surrounding the shooting to death of 47 R.A.F. airmen, including six Canadians, in a German prison camp March 25.

Flt. Lt. Jimmy Grocott, 42-year-old New Zealander who was at the camp at the time of shooting, was met today by Foreign Office officials when he came off a ship which carried repatriated prisoners to Liverpool. He talked for two hours to these officials and British security officers.

Newspapermen were separated from Grocott, and other military men being repatriated, by medical orderlies and military police who barred the returning men from being interviewed.

But a reporter shouted at Grocott: "Were you at the camp when the shooting took place?"

Grocott, who comes from Auckland, shouted back: "I certainly was."

ESCAPE THROUGH TUNNEL 15 MONTHS IN BUILDING

LONDON, May 29 (CP-Reuter's).—The mass escape of Allied airmen from the German prisoner of war camp Stalag Luft III, which led to the shooting to death of 46 of them, including six Canadians, was accomplished by a 450-foot-long tunnel, said a dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Stockholm, published today.

The dispatch said 76 R.A.F. airmen, including Britons and men of other Dominions and of several other countries, escaped last March.

It said the tunnel took 15 months to dig.

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—One hundred shipwrights and joiners, working at Lapointe Pier here, stopped work today, Bert Smith, business agent for the Shipwrights, Joiners and Caulkers' Industrial Union, announced. Smith said the men were protesting laying off of workers at the pier.

Musical Art Society Names Officers at Annual Meeting

Greater emphasis on the fostering and encouraging of student talent and local musicians was urged by President Mrs. William Ellis and other speakers heard at the annual meeting of the Victoria Musical Art Society held last night at the Y.W.C.A. The incoming executive will consider next season's programme on this basis.

Election of officers, the principal business, was simplified by an exact tally of nominations with directorships vacant, and at the subsequent meeting of the new board, officers were elected. They were: president, Mrs. William Ellis; first vice-president, Mrs. R. D. McCaw; second vice-president, John Gough; treasurer, John I. Smith; secretary, Miss M. Adamson; directors, Mesdames George A. B. Hall, W. W. McGill, A. H. Adams, R. D. McCaw and Llewellyn Jones; Misses Louise Hayward, Norma Douglas, Ethel James, E. Brumpton and M. Adamson, and Messrs. S. G. Case and E. Willoughby; senior conveners of intermediate group, Mrs. McCaw and Mrs. E. W. Hetherington; of juvenile group, Mrs. Llewellyn Jones and Mrs. Collis; honorary president and vice-president, respectively, Mrs. J. O. Cameron and Mrs. E. W. Hetherington.

A total membership of 318 in all groups was reported by the secretary, Miss M. Adamson. Of these 177 were seniors, 74 intermediates and 67 juveniles. The concert season just ended opened last October with a recital by "The Cavaliers," of Vancouver, assisted by Enid Conley, pianist, and other visiting artists during the year were Max and Leila Pirani and the Russian pianist, George Chavchavadze. Other concerts had been entirely by local talent supplied by one of the three groups and from Stanley Shale's studio. The society had sponsored one of the twilight recitals and several programmes for the armed forces. The secretary expressed special appreciation of the work done by Mesdames William Ellis, Milloy, R. D. McCaw and P. Timp in connection with monthly recitals of the intermediate and juvenile groups.

John Gough, treasurer, reported receipts totaling $1,288.85, of which $518.91 represented membership fees and $617.88 guest-ticket sales. Disbursements, $1,376.37, included artists' fees and honorariums, $415.42; and $320 for rental of auditoriums. The financial turnover, both ways, had been about $200 more than the previous year; $478.15 had been added to the scholarship fund.

PRESIDENT URGES DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Mrs. Ellis, in her presidential report, remarked on the difficulty experienced in securing visiting artists during the past season. Competition, on the one hand, by the professional series, and, on the other, actual dearth of good material and high fees for those available had handicapped the society. In thanking her executive and directors and the many others who had helped during the year, Mrs. Ellis urged members to make a concerted drive for bigger membership and increased support. If for no other reason than that the society was doing a splendid job in fostering the young musical talent of the community it merited all the encouragement that could be given. John Gough expressed cordial thanks to the president on behalf of the executive and members. Mrs. Ellis regretted the absence, due to unavoidable circumstances, of both the honorary president, Mrs. Cameron, and honorary vice-president, Mrs. Hetherington.

Encouraging reports, testifying to healthy activity, were read by representatives of the intermediate and juvenile groups respectively. Patricia Straughan, president of the former, was warmly congratulated by Mrs. Ellis on her recent appointment as concert-mistress of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra. The intermediates reported having added $116 to the Myra Hess Fund. The juveniles were praised for the efficient way in which they conducted their own affairs, and the new president, Pamela Newton, was introduced. Joan Milloy read their report.

Of twenty-nine answers to the questionnaire circulated among the members, twenty-five favored retaining the $2.50 membership fee, and the meeting by vote endorsed this view.

New members welcomed included Mr. Ernest Willoughby, recently appointed organist at Christ Church Cathedral.

Pot Roast of Beef

Tasty, economical and a favourite with the menfolk, pot roast is a dish it is patriotic to serve often

There is nothing more delicious than a pot roast of beef and nothing really that is easier to prepare. I sometimes wonder whether our only reason for not serving it more often is because it is so much less expensive than the roasting cuts, that we cannot believe it can be so good.

Actually I am sure you will all agree if you try it again this coming week-end what a chuck roast done this way with carrots in the pot is as fine a meat meal as you have ever eaten.

Martha Logan

HOW TO COOK A POT ROAST

5 lbs. beef chuck
Salt and pepper
Flour
Lard
Water
Carrots

Season meat and dredge with flour. Brown meat in hot fat in a heavy pot. Add a small amount of water. Cover and cook slowly in the oven (or on top of the stove) at simmering temperature. After 2½ hours add the scraped and washed carrots. Thicken the broth with flour for gravy.

Weddings

CAVE-BROWNE-CAVE—PALMER

Popular members of the Department of Mines were principals in a pretty wedding solemnized by Rev. W. N. Turner, of St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton, in St. Matthias' Church, Victoria, on Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock, when Elizabeth (Betty), only daughter of Lt.-Col. and Mrs. R. H. Palmer, 337 Robertson Street, until recently of Mount Newton, became the bride of Mr. Genille Cave-Browne-Cave, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cave-Browne-Cave, Cook Street. Owing to the illness of her father, the bride was escorted to the altar by Lt.-Col. H. M. Newson, and given in marriage by her mother. She wore an afternoon frock of printed silk jersey in shades of green, brown and turquoise, with a white straw sailor hat, white and brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley. There were no attendants, and after the ceremony a reception for relatives was held at the home of the bride's parents in a delightful floral setting. A three-tier cake, made by her mother and surrounded by vases of lily of the valley, on the refreshment table, was cut by the bride after the toast had been given by Lt.-Col. Newson. Mrs. J. E. Knott, (Vancouver), Mrs. H. M. Newson and Mrs. Frank Sommer assisted at the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Cave-Browne-Cave left later by plane for a honeymoon on the Mainland, the bride wearing a turquoise blue top-coat over her wedding frock, and on their return will make their home on Rockland Avenue. A telegram of congratulation was received from Calgary from the bride's brother, Flt. Sgt. R. H. C. Palmer, R.A.F. Mr. G. Cave-Browne-Cave is chief assayer and analyst in the Department of Mines, and his wife was formerly secretary to Mr. P. B. Freeland, chief mining engineer of the Province, until his retirement, and latterly to his successor, Dr. T. E. H. Sargent.

STEWART—SHAMBROOK

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Shambrook, Oller Point, on the evening of May 25, the marriage took place of their eldest daughter, Rose Marian, and Pte. Leonard G. Stewart, of the S.S.M. and S. Regiment, Prince Rupert. Rev. Barnes, D.D., of Sooke, officiated at the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a two-piece imported suit of turquoise blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage bouquet of white rosebuds. Her two attendants, Miss H. Shambrook, the bride's sister and Miss D. Davies were dressed alike in two-piece suits of white sharkskin with red accessories and red corsage bouquets. Mr. Raymond Shambrook supported the groom. A reception was held after the ceremony when about 50 guests were received by the bride's mother. She was assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. K. Shambrook, and Mrs. G. Gowdie. The bride and groom left at midnight for a honeymoon to be spent on the Island prior to their departure for Prince Rupert. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. T. Jerloux and Mr. Duncan, Vancouver, and Mr. J. Blakeney, Victoria.

CLARKE—JORGENSEN

Very Rev. Cecil Swanson, D.D., solemnized the marriage between Rosina Matilda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jorgensen, 1451 Comox Street, Vancouver, and Mr. Stanley Lawson Clarke, son of Mrs. Clarke and the late Mr. Harry Clarke, Victoria, which took place in Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, on Saturday, May 20. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white satin and Chantilly lace, and a long embroidered veil cascading from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress with clusters of orange blossom. She carried a white prayer-book covered with gardenias and lily of the valley, with long white streamers. Mrs. Elsie Cottingham was matron of honor, in a floral pale pink frock and carried a Colonial posy of carnations and sweet peas, and the bridesmaids, Miss Edna Keevil and Miss Lucy Slack, were in similar frocks of pale mauve and carried Colonial bouquets of carnations and stocks. Their chapel veils and headdresses matched their frocks. The junior bridesmaid, Margaret Jorgensen, neice of the bride, was dressed in Delft blue with a posy of carnations and stocks. Sgt. Chris Howland was groomsman, and serving as ushers were Mr. Sydney Jorgensen and Mr. Bruce Cook. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Clarke assisted them in receiving the guests. For a short honeymoon the bride left in a red wool suit with back accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke wil make their home at 1149 Leonard Street, Victoria.

CANADA NEEDS 20,000 TONS OF WASTE PAPER EVERY MONTH FOR VITAL WAR NEEDS!

It's up to every home to do its part!

WHAT IS WANTED

You can remedy this critical paper shortage by saving every scrap of Waste Paper, namely: wrapping paper — store bags — cardboard — cartons — corrugated board—old magazines and books—envelopes and letters—newspapers. These represent the raw material for making vitally needed Paper containers.

HOW TO DO IT

Tie securely in separate bundles. (The little time you take will save thousands of man hours.) Then dispose of it through your local voluntary Salvage Committee or other War Voluntary Organization, or sell it through any known trade channels, your pedlar, dealers or others. The important thing is to get your Waste Paper moving to the mills.

ONE OF THE GREAT GOLD MINES OF CANADA

Snap-shot 2

Although actual development has probably been conducted for less than one mile along the eight-mile length of the property, Belleterre has already exhibited extraordinary gold deposition.

The main vein, No. 12, has been developed to a depth of 750 feet, with lateral work on the 500-ft. level demarcating 3,000 feet of continuous ore in which the "cut" grade approximates $19.00 to the ton over a four-foot width.

But in certain flattish sections the width varies greatly, some of the stopes above the 250-ft. level being 20 feet wide, with lengths of 100 feet or over.

This is the second of a series of snap-shots on Belleterre. If you missed the first, we shall be pleased to send you a copy upon request. As a whole, the series will make a very interesting story. Cut this out and watch for No. 3.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP).—A wide assortment of stock market specialties, together with scattered pivotals, climbed to peaks for the year or longer today while many leaders did little or nothing.

Investment buying, predicated on the growing urge to employ idle funds, was selective from the start. Individual situations, plus earnings and dividend hopes, provided the principal inspiration. War news also was on the side of bullish forces.

Dealings were unusually lively for a pre-holiday session—important exchanges will recess tomorrow for Memorial Day—and gains of fractions to 2 points were well distributed at the close with a few much broader jumps in evidence.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .1 of a point at 53, a top since March 21. Transfers totaled 812,260 shares, compared with 835,830 in the preceding five-hour stretch.

Motors and rubbers generally had the aid of predictions that postwar requirements would run to around 18,000,000 new cars.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, May 29 (CP). — Exports reported here today showed large purchases of wheat by the United Kingdom. Most of the business, estimated at nearly 4,500,000 bushels, was done last week.

Eastern domestic interests took a small quantity of oats from the lakehead, and small lots of rye were sold to United States buyers. Distant rye futures traded below previous closing levels in a moderately active session. Declines at Chicago caused weak prices at the opening here.

Some recovery was made later in the session as the southern market improved and shipper and export buying here ran into light offerings. No trades were posted in May rye until late in the day.

Closing prices were 5-8 to 1 lower with May $1.14 1-2b, July $1.13 3-8 to $1.13 1-2, Oct. $1.11 3-8.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP).—The possibility of important military developments during the Decoration Day holiday affected rye futures today, and there was an increase in selling near the close of trading. The wheat market was affected by the trade in rye and by prospects for a near record crop, but buying by shorts was a steadying influence.

Mill buying and reports the army was in the market for flour also steadied wheat futures following the opening, when all grain prices dropped as sellers found a lack of demand.

Wheat closed 3-8 to one cent lower than Saturday's finish, July, $1.61 1-8 to $1.61. Oats were 1-4 lower to 3-8 higher, July 76 5-8. Rye was 3-8 to 1 3-8 lower, July $1.10 5-8 to $1.10 3-4. Barley was unchanged to 5-8 lower, July $1.20.

Need Scrap Paper

Forty million pounds of scrap paper and cardboard are needed monthly by the Salvage Corps of British Columbia. It is made into immense quantities of cardboard containers for medical kits, airplane parts, ships' stores and truck and tank parts. While more salvage than usual is being contributed by Six vehicles are now in use collecting waste material from homes, business offices and warehouses. Some drivers and loaders are available for the work, but others are required, because on many occasions the trucks lie idle for lack of volunteers. Lack of willing workers often causes a bottleneck.

Besides drivers and loaders, volunteers are urgently required to sort material at the Cloverdale Depot. Part-time workers are welcome, even though they may be able to give only one-half a day a week at the work. Street car fares are provided, and free tea and coffee are served to the workers who bring their own lunches.

Citizens can help by keeping all extraneous matter, such as sweepings, cigarette butts and cellophane from the paper and cardboard waste set aside for the Salvage Corps. Where the owners of waste material are near the salvage office, 1218 Government Street, or the Cloverdale Avenue depot, they could assist the corps by bringing in contributions.

The Salvage Corps has contributed $20,800 towards war charities, including Red Cross, British Bundles and other work. It has also paid for its fleet of trucks outright, and has maintained an adequate reserve for emergencies.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

THE WEEK-END ROUNDUP

Due to the fact that the mail over the week-end was heavy as far as this department is concerned, your scrivener will have to cut everything short in the "lead" to this column . . . First of all I want to extend thanks to Alan Macey, Tom McPherson and George Kerr and Mrs. Kerr, of the Colwood Golf Club, for their kind hospitality on Sunday. In tomorrow's issue I will give you a good outline of the new clubhouse at the links, interesting people I met and so forth and so on . . . Dropped into Gorge Vale Club on the way to the city and the argument popped up just how long that "ten-inch" putt which Leo Derman missed in the club final on the 36th green really was. From the conversation which J. D. happened to listen to with wide open ears (a newspaperman always does that, and never takes a note on his day off) that putt varied from 14 inches to nearly three feet. Leo told me himself after the match and, after all, he was the fellow stroking the ball, that it was no more than ten inches and he should know if anybody does . . . Only two newspapermen in the whole of Canada cashed in on that Kentucky Derby guessing contest conducted by Frank Menke, of New York, and one was your old Prediction Department editor and the other was Charlie Ayres, of The Free Lance, Toronto. We both received a $5 United States War Savings Stamp and mine arrived in yesterday's mail. All I had to do was to switch two horses and the reward would have been close to $100 . . . Jerry De Nonno, of The New York Post, won the contest, while Bob Mumpton, The Telegram, Worcester, Mass., was the next on the list. So from the Pacific to the Atlantic, this humble scribe cashed in and hundreds of the best known sports writers in this Dominion entered but weren't even close among the 311 entries. Thanks, Frank, for the contribution. I will always remember the 1944 classic at Churchill Downs.

IN THE MAIL BAG

Here's one of the solutions received by this department about the baseball problem sent in last week by Bob Sheridan, of the Navy:

First batter triples. Second batter triples and runner from third is called out on failing to touch home. Third batter doubles and runner from third is called out on failing to touch home. Fourth batter scratches an infield hit, the runner on second holding his base. Double steal is then pulled, putting runners on second and third. Fifth batter scratches an infield hit, runners on second and third holding their bases, therefore filling the bases. Sixth batter triples, clearing the bases, but runner from third is called out on failing to touch home for the third out.

"HANK" CAMPBELL (Stf.-Sgt.)
Work Point Barracks.

Comment: J.D. has no solution to the problem outside of the one he gave some days ago, but he would like to hear from Sheridan, so Bob either phone me this afternoon or drop a line, otherwise the baseball public is going to keep staying up late at nights trying to figure it all out.

Mr. and Mrs. Baseball Phan here's the answer sent in by Harold Paulding, well-known local ten and five-pin bowler and a great baseball fan:

First man hits a triple but is caught napping off third base. Second man hits a triple and is also caught asleep off third. Third man hits a double and the next batter hits a short single and the man on second holds his base. Then these two men steal second and third. The next man hits a short single and the base runners hold their bases, then the following batsman crashes out a triple, but, in the excitement, the runner on third slows up and waits for the runner from second, but the runner from the middle cushion happens to touch the home plate before the man from third, which automatically puts the man on third out and therefore no run is scored.

HAROLD PAULDING.
360 Foul Bay Road, City.

Comment: That solution or answer seems to hit the problem right on the whiskers, but still I wouldn't want to bet on it for there's a catch and, at the same time, a hundred different answers could be right, Sheridan, please answer me and end the argument, otherwise I will have to call the "shore patrol" and corner you myself. This scribbler will hold the gestapos until the correct solution drops from your lips, so get on the double and dial that phone some time today. P.S.—I have two more letters on my desk but haven't got the space for them this morning, but they will appear tomorrow or the next day.

Dear Sir:

In answer to your Sheridan problem of May 27, which appeared in your daily column, which, by the way I read with great interest every morning: First man up, a double and steals third and the second batter smacks a three-bagger. The first man is tagged out for not touching the home plate. Third man to the plate hits a triple and the second batsman is tagged out for not touching home plate, then the following batter hits an infield single and the runner holds third. Fourth batter proceeds to steal second and the fifth hitter is safe on an infield single. Runners hold second and third and the very next batter clouts a three-bagger. Third man at the plate is out for not touching the home plate. That, in my mind, completes the solution, but still I may be wrong.

GEORGE A. CARROLL.
853 Comox Road, Nanaimo, B.C.

Comment: My only comment on your letter is that you may be right, Sheridan; your columnist will be waiting for the phone to ring this afternoon and don't forget. The number is E 4111 and not Garden with the same figures after it, for that is the police station.

Shipyarders Win From the Flyers

Register Third Straight Victory in Senior Ball League — Score Is 10-2

Pounding the ball all over Athletic Park last night, Joe Casey's V.M.D. club won their third straight game in the Victoria Senior Baseball League by drubbing the R.C.A.F., 10-2, in a game that lacked good baseball to give the fans little in the way of excitement. The Pat Bay boys have yet to break into the win column and certainly haven't shown the class they carried last year. This was their third loss in a row and the closest they have come from finishing on the long end of the score was in their first game against the Eagles a week ago that ended in a 4-4 draw. However, they still may come to life and make things interesting for the rest of the clubs in the league. One thing, they never quit trying.

Billy Surphlis went the whole game on slab for the air force and was touched for 14 hits, struck out three and walked four. A lot of his knocks went for extra bags, with "Scotty" Robinson leading the parade with two doubles and a triple. The other distance hitters were Patterson, a triple; Barnswell and Rafferty, doubles. Justice was the only man for the losers to hit for the distance by lashing out a three-bagger in the last frame. Several of these clouts were of the cheap variety as the ball seemed to take some bad hops in the outer gardens, making it a little difficult for the fielders to handle.

Cy Shillito was given the pitching assignment for the shipbuilders and had one of his best nights out there on the mound, working the first seven frames and allowing five hits, whiffing three and gave two bases on balls and one run. Not up until fourth inning did the airmen touch him for a safe bingo, which Billy Adshead scratched between third and short. Young Ron France took over from him in the seventh to go the last two stanzas, allowing one run, three hits, one walk and sending one hitter back to the dugout a strike-out victim.

The biggest inning for the V.M.D. was in the second, shoving five runners across the plate on four hits, two errors and a like number of walks. After this rally they were always in the driver's seat.

SHIPYARDERS INCREASE LEAD

The shipyarders increased their lead with a run in the fifth on two hits and an error, and two more in the sixth from a pair of hits and walks. In the eighth their final total was completed to ten, notching two runs off four hits.

Justice put his club in the scoring column on his triple to the right field and crossed the pan on Surphlis' ground-out to third, adding another in the last inning on two hits, one base on ball and an error.

The leading batsmen were Maurice Duffy, of the winners, and Billy Adshead, smart catcher for the losers, each getting three for four. Next in line was Justice, playing in the left field for the flyers, with two for three.

DIAMOND DUST

Brian Forster, playing coach of the flyers, doesn't like umpires. They miss too many at the wrong time, he says. Have to blame somebody, so the arbitrators are the victims. One thing about this man Forster, he is always in the game. He likes to get the opposition mad at him and after the game he'll turn around and give them credit. But the man with mask back of the catcher is still blind to him . . . Radio Announcer Lee Hallberg had a tough time with the "mike." The ball bounced so goofily in the outfield Lee couldn't inform his listeners how many bags the hit was good for until the runner stopped. Invited this writer for a lift in his chariot after the game and found one of his rear tires without any air in it. "I thought I let enough wind out of my system for one night without my car's help," said Lee. Phoned up after the game and would like to make a complaint about the schedule on Monday nights. Boss Joe Delahunty offered a hand and will handle Lee's broadcast if he gets too tired . . . Paging Mr. Sheridan. Please come forward with that answer to your baseball problem. You got J. D. up here biting his finger nails and pulling his hair. Everywhere you go, on the street car, on corners, in barracks or even in bed somebody has a pencil and paper working it out.

Well, I guess that's all . . . and don't forget, Lee, it's the R.C.A.F. vs. the Eagles next Monday night. Bring lots of wind in your tires next time.—"Tiger."

Muncrieff Wins Over the Yanks

Breaks Jinx by Beating Ball Champs— Raffensberger Sets Season's Record

AMERICAN LEAGUE

ST. LOUIS, May 29 (AP).—Bob Muncrief routed an old Yankee jinx that has cost him six straight ball games since 1941 by scattering ten hits for his first victory over New York, 11-3, today as the St. Louis Browns moved back into second place in the American League.

Home runs by George McQuinn with a man on in the first and Gene Moore with two on in the third routed Atley Donald, Joe McCarthy's starter. The New Yorkers, who had beaten St. Louis five out of six previous starts, never caught up as the Browns battered three hurlers for 13 safeties.

In hanging up his third victory, Muncrief fanned five, batted in a run with a single and scored another.

Dick Siebert's home run set off the fourth-inning rally, which included a double by Outfielder Estalella. The Athletics bunched their 12 safeties, while the Indians were spreading their 13 hits throughout the game.

Detroit took a 2-1 series edge and its sixth victory in seven starts against Washington.

Washington's run in the seventh resulted from two errors, but the Tigers matched that with a tally in their half. Charley Metro scored the winning run in the eighth on George Case's error.

Lineham in Close Win

Beats Macey on The Final Green

Harold Lineham, Brian Hunnings, Rusty Dunnett and Doc McNiven survived the second rounds of match play in the men's championship at the Colwood Golf Club on Sunday. They were all close except the match between Hunnings and Thomas, the former winning the decision on the 12th green to stay in the running for the title he captured last year by downing Jimmy Simpson.

The Lineham-Macey battle was a thriller. Harold was four up on the first nine which, by the way, he stroked in 35; but it was a vastly different story on the trip towards the clubhouse. It was Macey who cut loose on the back nine. Alan won the 10th, 11th and 12th holes to leave himself only one down. They halved the next three and then Macey, the husky southpaw, birdied the 16th to square the match. Fives halved the 17th and it was anybody's match as they teed off at the 18th. Lineham went into the wood with his drive while Macey was straight down the middle but he overplayed his second, using a No. 7 iron instead of an eight, and landed up on the far side of the green. Harold played up safely and got his par for the win.

Dunnett had his work cut out to win from the veteran, Jim Wood. Rusty captured the verdict on the final green and had to can an 18-footer to do it. Doc McNiven just managed to squeeze through against E. Callan on the 17th, 2 and 1, while Hunnings was right on his game to beat Frank Thomas, twice a former city titleholder. In the semi-finals, it will be Lineham and Hunnings, Dunnett and McNiven.

Devil Diver Goes After Big Purse

Whitney Horse Will Be Seeking $50,000 Stake Today at the Belmont Enclosure

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP).—Devil Diver, from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stables, goes after one of the turf's rare doubles tomorrow when he seeks to add the $50,000 Suburban Handicap to his Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park.

Only five other horses ever won the two big handicap races at the Long Island racing plant and not one has accomplished the feat since Equipoise in 1933. Winner also of the Paumonok at Jamaica and the Toboggan at Belmont, both sprint affairs, the five-year-old son of St. Germans is the favorite to be on the front end of the 15-horse field at the end of the mile and one-quarter.

If the 58th running of the stake runs true to predictions it will be a battle between Devil Diver and Sun Again, from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm. The Devil will carry top weight of 130 pounds while Sun Again, winner of the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico, will pack 128.

If either of the two favorites gets a serious challenge it will probably come from A. C. Ernst's combination of Alquest and Altern, both lightly weighted; William Helis' Rounders, in with 119 pounds; R. A. Coward's Marriage, also assigned 119, or Townsend B. Vurlin's Bolingbroke, who'll pick up 118.

TOAST and TEA
By J. V. McAREE

WE have all heard that Wilfrid Laurier was much averse to accepting a knighthood, and that it was only because he could not be rude to Queen Victoria, or indeed any other woman, that he accepted when she made a point of it. The offer of knighthood to William Nicholson, a famous, but, at the time, impecunious painter, came in an equally curious manner, as his former secretary Marguerite Steen relates in her biography of him. It appears that Nicholson, his solicitor and Miss Steen, one day were handling his correspondence. It consisted mainly of bills, and they were consigned to the waste paper basket, often without being opened. Says Miss Steen: "We haven't any money to pay bills with, so what was the point of opening them? Here was a large envelope that looked like a sales advertisement . . . The solicitor held it thoughtfully. 'Do you often get advertisements from Downing Street?' he asked." So the letter was opened and there was the preliminary intimation that Nicholson was about to change his formal address and become Sir William.

Senior Fixtures In Fastball Loop

First of the double-headers in the Lower Island Fastball Association will be held this evening at the Athletic Park, the first fixture starting at 6:15. Army will be facing the Douglas Tire nine in the opener and the Navy is taking on the Royal Canadian Air Force right after. Both games will be seven innings and no more. Two "C" section games were played last evening, New Method winning over Spruce Products after a close battle, 4-2, while K.-V.'s had no trouble trimming Malaliat Chalet 23-0. A change in the opening schedule of the women's division was announced last night by Secretary Ed White. Victoria Box & Paper nine will meet R.C.A.F. instead of the Victoria Sports Club at Upper Central Park.

LACROSSE NOTICE

Doug Fletcher, president of the Greater Victoria Lacrosse Association, announced yesterday that the game is badly in need of coaches and referees for the coming season, which opens this evening at Stevenson's Memorial Park at 7 o'clock. Anyone interested is asked to phone Fletcher at E 3123.

Headlines emphasizing bad news have been found to stimulate civilian war effort more effectively than cheering headlines.

At the Theatres

"Happy" Musical Stars Ted Lewis

Ted Lewis, that "Medicine Man of the Blues," together with his laughing clarinet and the wild, uncharted syncopations of his music, happily tools himself into the Dominion Theatre today in Columbia's fast-stepping musical jamboree, "Is Everybody Happy?"

The story is based on Lewis' life. It shows how he formed his band, the trials and tributions he went through to gain recognition, until by a desperate manoeuvre—playing on the sidewalk of "the Great White Way" before the famous Rector's Restaurant—he won his first engagement and became an overnight sensation.

Supporting players in "Is Everybody Happy?" are headed by the beautiful and brilliant Nan Wynn singing herself to recognition with the Lewis band.

Clough Dance Revue to Be Given on June 2

An indication of the popularity of the Dance Revue of the Florence Clough Dance Academy is the unusually heavy rush for tickets that has taken place already showing that this event has come to be known as one of the highlights in entertainment of the city. The date set is Friday, June 2, at 8 p.m. at the Royal Victoria Theatre and the reports to hand on the rehearsing and costume-making in progress seem to spell another very successful show. As last year, when $521 was raised, the net proceeds will go again to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children.

Beauty and grace of ballet numbers combine with those of sparkling fast syncopation in a programme skilfully arranged so that the enjoyment of all tastes is assured.

Amusements

On the Screen

Atlas—"In Old Chicago," starring Tyrone Power and Alice Faye.

Cadet — Richard Quine and Anne Gwynne in "Texas to Tokio."

Capitol—"Jane Eyre," featur- Joan Fontaine and Orson Welles.

Dominion—Ted Lewis in "Is Everybody Happy?"

Oak Bay and Plaza—"What a Woman," starring Rosalind Russell and Brian Aherne.

Rio—Fred Astaire and Rita Hayworth in "You Were Never Lovelier."

York—"So Proudly We Hail," featuring Claudette Colbert and Paulette Goddard.

ATLAS THEATRE "In Old Chicago," the production which will be seen at the Atlas Theatre with four great stars, Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Don Ameche and Brian Donlevy, is the lusty, gusty story of a city that vanished in towering flames. The climax, the fire that swept Chicago, has been called one of the most spectacular sequences ever filmed.

CAPITOL THEATRE The character of Edward Rochester, which Orson Welles plays in the 20th Century-Fox production of Charlotte Bronte's famous novel, "Jane Eyre," now at the Capitol Theatre, in which Joan Fontaine appears as Jane, is a role quite familiar to Mr. Welles. "Jane Eyre" was one of the favorite productions of Welles radia theatre group.

CADET THEATRE Inspired by the fighting sons of Texas A. and M. College, America's mightiest officers' training centre, "Texas to Tokio," presented by Walter Wanger Productions, came yesterday to the screen of the Cadet Theatre. The film deals with the valorous part played by American youth on the battlefronts of the world. Richard Quine, Anne Gwynne, Noah Beery, Jr., and Martha O'Driscoll appear in the leading roles.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES Brian Aherne and Rosalind Russell of "My Sister Eileen" fame are again co-starred; this time in Columbia's sprightly comedy, "What a Woman!" now playing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. They outdo themselves in generating hilarity in this story about an actors' agent and her search for a "he-man" star.

RIO THEATRE Rita Hayworth, again starred with Fred Astaire at the Rio Theatre in Columbia's "You Were Never Lovelier" the greatest picture of their lives. Adolphe Menjou is featured with Xavier Cugat and his orchestra. The music was written by Jerome Kern.

YORK THEATRE Claudette Colbert and George Reeves meet en route to the Philippines in Paramount's stirring movie, "So Proudly We Hail," now showing at the York Theatre. Their love affair on the battlements of Bataan, their subsequent honeymoon under the stars of Corregidor, is one of the most gripping stories ever told. Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake are co-starred with Claudette Colbert.

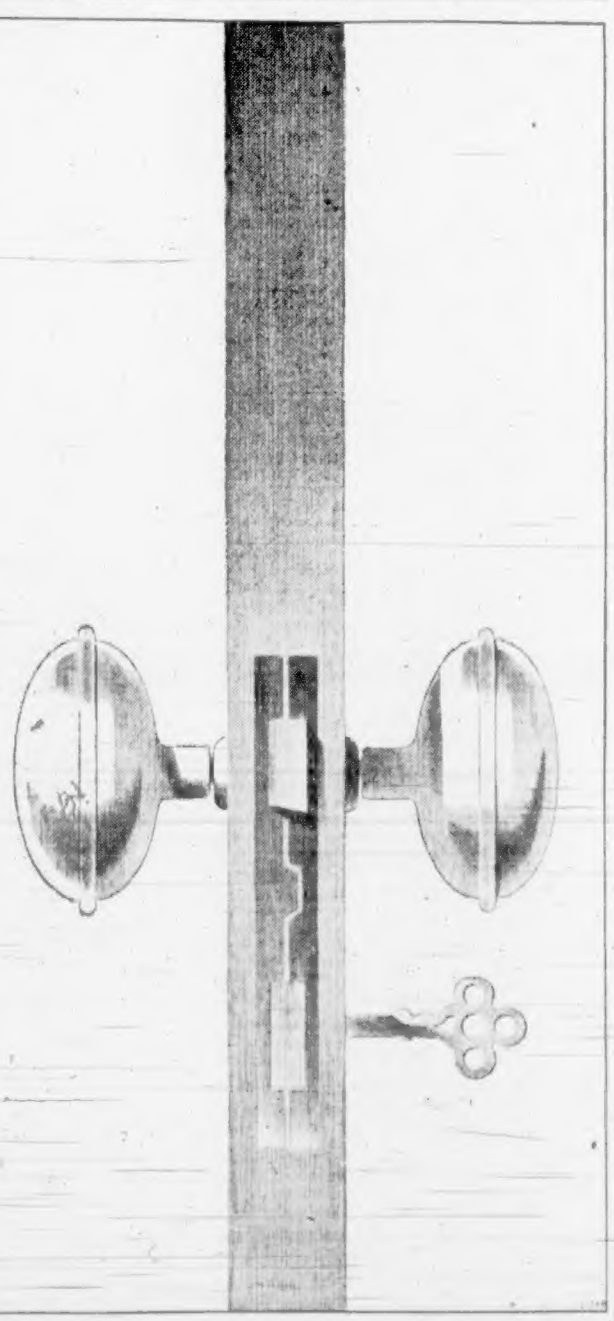
What's all this about "interlocking" directorates?



WHEN you want sound advice you go to a friend who has had experience with whatever is worrying you. When you have to have professional advice you buy the best you can afford. In the same way, because the life insurance companies are the guardians of the people's savings, they seek the best business brains in Canada.

Individual directors of life insurance companies often occupy similar positions in many other lines of business. This is because they are men who have proven their ability. It needs men of sound judgment and wide experience to determine safe procedure in matters vital to so many millions of people.

Life insurance is a business of many phases. It bridges a gap between your present earning power and your far distant needs—sometimes spanning over half a century.

It is essential to have life insurance companies directed by men of broad business experience.

Greater Victoria Benefits Stressed by Forrest Shaw

"Visualizing the area called Greater Victoria you will find it approximately 30 miles by 8 miles, with a population of almost 75,000. I think if any one of these people was asked individually which system would best serve the whole the reply would be that it would be better served by one unified head rather than four municipalities working separately," said Forrest L. Shaw, city solicitor, speaking yesterday at the Civic Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

"The problems of this area are meta and varied and in commenting on them while I have the full [illegible] A. Worthington to do so I would prefer to speak not as Victoria's city solicitor but simply as a resident taxpayer," he said.

What do we derive from these four separate municipalities? Mr. Shaw continued. We have four sets of fire-fighting equipment, four police forces, four health departments and four water departments to mention a few. The system was all very well in the early history of the city when the small populations of the outer districts had little or no effect upon the Victoria area but as we could expect the rapid expansion since.

Figures today, he pointed out, show that there are 44,000 people living in Victoria and 31,000 in the municipalities. As a result inequalities have arisen especially in the matter of taxation. In the city itself 33 per cent of the property is tax exempt in Esquimalt 75 per cent, in Oak Bay 3 per cent, and in Saanich roughly 3 per cent. Naturally then the burden is unequal, even though it is not deliberate. The unavoidable fact is that the municipalities are inter-dependent. Prosperity in Saanich is reflected in Victoria and these inequalities have an effect upon the whole.

Mr. Shaw said that from time to time the matter of a Greater Victoria had been brought up for discussion but always came to nothing. He expressed the opinion that today more than ever before people because they at last realized the advantages it would bring about.

"The outside municipalities," he asserted, have looked upon Victoria's debt of $11,000,000 which is now refunded and stabilized with suspicion. But there only half the story and let's get the true picture. It is only fair to point out that Victoria has benefited the others during periods. She owns her own sewage disposal system, water distribution and water right, points which are worth $4,000,000 apart from other assets, while each municipality [illegible]

Victoria "Y" Takes Honors

Victorians captured all major sprint events at Vancouver's first track meet of the season Although a little early in the season for the Victoria team, they managed to take 11 first places, four seconds and five thirds. This included a grand slam in the junior men's broad jump and the senior men's hop, step and jump. Paced by Bill Clarke and Ron Dalziel the rest of the team gave them splendid support. The team really opened with a bang when Ronnie Dalziel walked away with his heat and then the final in the junior 100. Bill Clarke followed him up a short time later by winning comfortably from Mickey Berry, the Victoria army flash.

Ron Dalziel won the 220 senior, easing up at the finish to save his energy for the relays. His co-worker, Clarke, duplicated his efforts in the 440 and took the event without any trouble. Jack Rowe finished third in the 880 and Al McKinnon repeated in the mile. Jim Ranson scored a double by winning the broad jump junior and the senior hop, step and jump. His pal, Gord Hunter, finished in the second slot in both events. Glyn Dalziel got third in the Broad and Ted Hemben third in the hop, step and jump. Mickey Berry won the open broad jump and also the soldiers' 100. Elaine Silburn won the junior girls' broad jump and second in the junior girls' dash. Jeanne House won the junior high jump. The two girls teamed with Ron Dalziel and Bill Clarke to win the 440 sprint mixed relay. It was a real fighting finish by Dalziel, who spotted the Flying Cop Harrison and Mickey Berry three yards each and overhauled them both. The "Y" team also took second in the men's sprint relay with Glyn Dalziel, Gordon Hunter, Ron Dalziel and Bill Clarke. The medley relay team of Ron Dalziel, Bill Clarke, Jack Rowe and Al McKinnon finished third in this event.

Victoria captured three of the four aggregate trophies offered for track events. Elaine Silburn won the junior girls in a tie with Milly Chealer, each girl receiving a trophy. Ron Dalziel won the junior boys' cup and Mickey Berry won the senior aggregate.

The meet was run off very well in a miserable type of day. It rained mildly all the time and never let up. The local team were accompanied by their coach, Archie McKinnon, who could not say enough for the hospitality of Doug Franks, the sports representative for the Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders' Union of Canada, Local No. 1, who sponsored the big day.

Liberal Senator Forecasts Vote

WINNIPEG, May 29 (CP).—Senator Wishart McL. Robertson, of Halifax, said in an interview here today that a Federal general election before next April "is a reasonable assumption."

"I think from a national point of view the sooner a Federal election is over the better it would be for the country as a whole," he said.

Senator Robertson, president of the National Liberal Federation, is here to address delegates to the national convention of Young Liberals.

"Mr. King has said he would not ask for an extension of Parliament. The life of the present Parliament ends April, 1945."

Esquimalt Needs Improvements

Esquimalt Council last night heard a report on its public works department by A. S. G. Musgrave, Oak Bay works superintendent, which led one councillor to say that Esquimalt should immediately provide the Government with estimates of planned expenditures on postwar construction work.

Reeve Thomas Hadfield said that work set out in the report would cost over $250,000. It will be discussed next month.

Highlights of Mr. Musgrave's report, which dealt with streets, sidewalks, sewers, drainage, garbage, parks, lighting and records, were:

Esquimalt suffered from having large areas held by the Crown, and from having low profits on its water system; streets could be improved by construction of curbs, and sidewalks along new Wartime Housing streets should adjoin the pavement; purchase of additional road equipment would save money; asphalt sidewalks were satisfactory in residential districts; a drainage system should be a postwar project; a new garbage truck would be valuable, and an increased staff should be considered.

Mr. Musgrave noted that 33 per cent of Esquimalt funds went to schools, and only 16 per cent to public works.

The council decided to find out the price of a new garbage truck, and to follow a suggestion that business section streets be cleaned. The reeve said a part-time engineer would be needed to prepare details of postwar work.

During committee discussion on a by-law controlling the keeping of poultry and rabbits, a rabbit-keeper pointed out that he might have 15 animals one day and 75 the next. The by-law is to be amended to allow the keeping of additional young stock. Fifteen adult birds in a lot of 7,200 square feet are allowed, and each must have 20 square feet of pen space.

The council will contract for the services of Victoria Public Library, it decided after the Wartime Housing library group asked for a decision before its private contract expired. Esquimalt has not had library service for ten years.

Dr. J. S. McCallum was named representative on Royal Jubilee Hospital board of directors. Lots worth $195 were sold to V. Shandley and L. H. Brine. Harry Church was appointed first-aid officer for Esquimalt, and T. Floyd his deputy.

Reeve Hadfield suggested that municipal lots be provided as playgrounds for Esquimalt children. Action was left to the next meeting.

He asked the council to attend services at St. Paul's Church on June 11. This is done when a new reeve takes office. C. H. Smith, newly-elected councillor, was welcomed.

Seek City Hall Site at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, May 29 — Nanaimo City Council wants a new city hall.

Mayor Harrison Monday night appointed a committee consisting of Aldermen Grieves, Addison, Ross and Muir to bring in a report on suitable sites, as the preliminary to a campaign to make citizens city hall-minded and eventually to obtain approval for a new building.

Some time ago the old brewery site, thought at the time to be a suitable location, came into the city's hands. Now it is thought other available sites are more suitable.

Offer of the Pied Piper Exterminating and Fumigating Company of Vancouver and Victoria to rid Nanaimo of rats was received, and it was decided to ask a representative to interview the council.

Ald. D. Campbell, of the garbage committee, reported making a visit to the dumps and finding "everything clean, and if rats were present, they were in hiding."

Ald. G. Muir retorted that there could be no such thing as a "clean dump" and moved that a committee should investigate the possibility of having all garbage dumps removed to some point outside the city limits. He had seen "plenty" of rats on the dumps, he said. His motion was seconded by Alderman Campbell and carried.

Charge by Alderman Muir that taxi stand owners were abusing their parking privileges was set down for investigation by the police. He claimed the taxi men were using spaces allotted to the public, leaving their own places vacant, and were parking two cars on the street instead of one.

Request for permission to stage a rodeo was refused.

Victoria Poet Receives Medal

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP).—Public award of four Royal Society of Canada medals for "outstanding" contribution to Canadian literature, history or science was made tonight at a general meeting of the society convening here for their annual three-day session.

The medal winners are:

Dr. V. E. Henderson, of the University of Toronto, Flavelle Medal for his "outstanding contributions to medical science."

Frank Allen, of the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Henry Marshall Torry Medal for his "outstanding research work in the field of physical sciences."

Miss Audrey Alexandra Brown, of Victoria, Lorne Pierce Medal for her "distinguished work in poetry."

Harold A. Innis, of the University of Toronto, Tyrrell Medal for his "outstanding work in history and economic sciences."

"Y" Track Team

Members of the Y.M.C.A. track team have had a brief rest and will commence training seriously again this evening at 6.30 o'clock at the Victoria High School grounds. Coach Archie McKinnon still extends a welcome to anyone interested and is particularly anxious to secure a few middle-distance enthusiasts to help round out a good team balance.

The Police Mutual Benefit Association, through Detective Dave Shirley, extended an invitation to the "Y" team for their big meet on July 1. The team has accepted this as a date and are planning to be in good shape for it.

Miss Ann Clarke also informed the local team that the Canadian Western women's championships might be held in Vancouver in August. Coach McKinnon will be glad to see a number of new girls out on Tuesday at the High School. Elaine Silburn and Jeanne House made such a good showing at Vancouver that he feels sure if a few more girls would turn out Victoria could take their share of these titles.

Decline Shown in New Construction

Civilian building activity showed a decline during the past week, with the city proper, Saanich and Oak Bay figures below those of the previous week. Esquimalt, however, showed an increase in contemplated expenditure.

The city topped the weekly statistics for Greater Victoria by issuing 25 permits for construction, repairs [illegible]. The list included three new dwellings.

Saanich issued thirteen permits during the week with a total of $9,730. Of the total, $5,700 was accounted for in the proposed construction of three new homes.

Esquimalt listed three permits for $6,850, with two new houses; one at 914 Forshaw Road and the other at 1031 Bewdley Avenue.

Oak Bay issued two permits; one for repairs, and another for a garage valued at $666.

What Today Means

GEMINI

If May 30 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon, from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m., from 6 to 8 p.m. and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

This Memorial Day should serve to remind us of the heroic supreme sacrifices made in the past and being made now for the preservation of our constitutional rights that have and will enable us, and our children's children, to enjoy to the fullest the blessings of the four freedoms. Ask yourself today, are you doing all you can to contribute in every way possible your bit so you will not feel a secret shame to share in the manifold blessings an Allied victory will bestow on you and civilization. Remember that it is actual and not lip service that counts. Today it should make no difference whether you are married, engaged or in love, you should remember that "God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it," and prove by their actions that they are worthy of it.

If a woman and May 30 is your birthday, unselfishness, in all likelihood, characterizes your thoughts, words and deeds. You probably do not believe in reserving one weekday only for religious thoughts or charitable actions, so each and every day is apt to reflect in some way your spiritual nature and desire to be of real service to your fellow man. A natural born diplomat, you should have no trouble when it comes to handling people or selling them a "bill of goods," especially if you are convinced that it is for their own good. As a welfare worker, missionary, teacher, lecturer, actress, writer, singer, musician, trained nurse, dietician, doctor, lawyer, business manager, sales agent, specialty shop operator, secretary, or through some patriotic service in an industrial line of activity, your accomplishments should be outstanding and your financial returns most gratifying. Favorable conditions appear to surround your future matrimonial affairs.

The child born on May 30 has generally a remarkable amount of nervous energy, an unlimited amount of curiosity that may need curbing and a strong desire to be the centre of attraction on all occasions. An ability to promote itself is apt to be responsible for its future success.

If a man and May 30 is your natal day, you probably derive both pleasure and satisfaction in doing difficult things successfully. You are apt to be continually sustained by an unlimited amount of faith in yourself, and this should result in your being successful in any activity that you engage. As a clergyman, political leader, jurist, physician, journalist, author, educator, scientist, composer, painter, architect, contractor, skilled mechanic, builder, horticulturist, agriculturist, or as a member of one of your country's armed forces, you have every right to expect a successful future to be ahead of you.

Pledges Support of Plan for Play Lots

Support for the play lot plan as advanced by W. H. Warren, parks superintendent, was received yesterday at the City Hall from Miss Sara Spencer.

Writing to Mayor Andrew McGavin and members of the City Council, Miss Spencer said: "It was with great interest that I read in the press the suggestion that play lots were very much needed for those children who were too small to go to large parks to play.

"A walk around our city, especially those residential areas near its centre, and those areas which recent developments has so greatly changed, convinced me that such play lots are absolutely essential if the recreational needs of these little people are to be provided for.

"Of course I realize that it is only within the last few years that much attention has been paid to the value—cultural and economic as well (prevention is always cheaper than cure) of suitable pla[illegible] adequately supervised.

"Realizing also that it is easier to take action if public opinion approve, I venture to assert that in this matter of the provision of adequate playgrounds adequately supervised, you will have the strong support of public opinion.

"Therefore I would strongly suggest that a town-planning committee keeps the needs of these small children in mind while making any survey; that following its advice you will cause to be set aside the requisite property, and lastly, that at least one play lot will be fully developed in a suitable location, where it can be closely watched and its value demonstrated."

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—P. T. Rogers, president of the British Columbia Sugar Refining Co., Ltd., announced today that his company had purchased a raw sugar central in Dominican Republic known as the Osama Sugar Co., Ltd. A The property consists of 50,000 acres of land, part of which is in sugar cane, the balance in pasture and forest land.

New R.C.A.F. Command Will Control Northwest Routes

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP).—Formation of a new R.C.A.F. district in [illegible] mand—with headquarters in Edmonton, was announced tonight by air force headquarters here.

Geographical boundaries of the new command, which goes into operation June 1, will be roughly as follows:

On the east by longitude 110 degrees west, on the south by latitude 52 degrees 30 minutes north, on the west by the Alberta-British Columbia interprovincial boundary to latitude 55 degrees 30 minutes north. Thence west to British Columbia-Alaska Highway at Stewart, B.C., on the Portland Canal, and north along the International Boundary, and on north by the Arctic Ocean.

The new command will take over control of the Northwest staging route, along which aircraft and men were flown to Alaska and the Aleutians when the Japanese were threatening this continent two years ago. The route is operated by No. 2 R.C.A.F. Wing in Edmonton, under Western Air Command.

First air officer commanding the new command will be Air Vice-[illegible] manding No. 7 Training Command at Winnipeg. He will be succeeded at Winnipeg by Air Commodore Kenneth Guthrie, now deputy air member for air staff (plans).

Responsibilities of the Northwest Command will include the control and operation of the existing Northwest staging route, control of airways traffic on that route, control of freight and passenger priorities on all Canadian aircraft operating over the route, and development, construction and maintenance of all R.C.A.F. works and building projects forming, or to be formed, as part of the route, and the defence of the route itself.

A statement issued on behalf of Air Minister Power said a series of airdromes and aircraft control facilities have been constructed and put into operation in Northwestern Canada and the responsibility for the control, operation, maintenance and defence of the area is vested in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Gillnet Fishing Causes Animosity

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries, said today gillnet fishermen are selling cod illegally to buyers at appointed spots throughout the Gulf of Georgia. Authorized cod fishermen have expressed anger over the practice and have demanded that it be stopped.

The fish is caught with sunken gillnets by fishermen holding dogfish licences, in violation of new Federal fisheries regulations laid down a year ago, Major Motherwell said.

The fish is then transferred from the boats which catch it, to either the vessels of illegal buyers or those of authorized cod men willing to risk bringing it to port, Major Motherwell said.

"To catch these men we would have to have a fisheries inspector watching every reef in the Gulf," he added.

This illegal practice is most prevalent around Nanaimo and Pender Harbor, Major Motherwell said. It has resulted in open animosity between authorized cod men and gillnetters.

William Burgess, secretary of the United Fishermen's Union, visited fishermen at Nanaimo Saturday in an attempt to find some solution.

Lands First Halibut Catch in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—Capt. James Parsons for the third successive year landed the first halibut catch in Vancouver when he arrived Sunday with 26,000 pounds of fish aboard his boat, the Joan F3.

The fish, 13,000 pounds of chicken halibut and 13,000 pounds of medium, was sold at full ceiling prices to Canadian Fishing Co.

Some halibut arrived in Vancouver last week aboard a steamer which picked it up from camps along the coast. Capt. Parsons' catch is the first to be brought here by a vessel of the halibut fleet, however.

I.O.D.E. to Send Prisoners Cigarettes

TORONTO, May 29 (CP).—Toronto headquarters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire announced today that the organization has undertaken a new service—that of sending 300 cigarettes monthly to war prisoners who do not receive supplies from next of kin.

The development in the work of the order is apart from the usual procedure of sending cigarettes to the fighting forces who have received approximately 10,000,000 smokes this year from I.O.D.E. chapters.

Cigarettes to prisoners who previously did not receive any from relatives now total about 200,000, although the system has been in operation but a few months.

Margaret D. Won Yachting Event

Margaret D., captained by Andy Wright, was the winner of the Cadboro Bay-Brotchie Ledge race sailed last Sunday with eight auxiliary yachts of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club competing. Quest, with John Jukes at the tiller, was second, while Shangrila, skippered by Fleet Captain W. Walsh, finished in third place. A handicap event, the boats were sent across the starting line at 10:30 a.m., the leading yacht negotiating the course in a trifle less than four hours, the final boat to finish requiring five hours and 15 minutes to negotiate the 16-mile course.

With ideal yachting conditions prevailing for the day in the Strait, the breeze blowing out of the southwest and hardly strong enough to warrant reefing at any time, the boats started and finished the race with all canvas set, the only incident tending to mark an otherwise perfect sailing day occurring when the clubtopsail of Richmond split while the boats were manoeuvring in the bay just before the start.

Proving popular with skippers and crews, the inclusion by the racing committee of this outside event as a feature of the Summer programme was responsible for a lot of favorable comment, and following the conclusion of Sunday's racing, it was felt that the contest would be worth repeating some time before the season's sailing activities are completed.

The course chosen was from the clubhouse dolphin in Cadboro Bay to Fiddle Reef, outside Trial Island, around Brotchie Ledge Beacon and return to Cadboro Bay. The tide was running out when the boats started, which helped a lot, although the last of the outgoing tide was against the little vessels during the run home.

Shangrila took an early lead after crossing the starting line, and maintained it well along towards Brotchie Ledge. Rounding Trial Island, Shangrila, Quest and Lalonga laid courses direct for the beacon with sails close aboard on the port tack, while Margaret D., after clearing Trial Island, continued well out into the Strait on the starboard tack, and in going about on the port slant heading for the mark picked up a stiffer breeze than was blowing closer in shore, enabling her skipper to establish a good lead. She was the first craft to round Brotchie Ledge Beacon.

BACK EDDY CAUSES CRAFT TO LOSE GROUND

In the meantime, Lalonga, sailing inside Quest, Shangrila and the other boats, got into a back eddy and lost ground before getting back into the ebbing tidal stream, which was helping the other boats nicely. Shangrila rounded the ledge in second place, and was followed by Quest in third position.

On the run down wind after the beacon was cleared, Quest gradually overhauled Shangrila and passed her off Trial Island to finish in second place behind Margaret D. Outguessing the other contestants, Margaret D.'s skipper, by standing out into the Strait before heading for the ledge mark, had the race well in hand after rounding it, and led the little fleet home without any challenges.

The first boat, White Wings, crossed the starting line at 10.30, and the last one, Richmond, at 10.32.10. They finished in the following order: Margaret D., Andrew Wright, 2.20.26; Quest, John Jukes, 2.25; Shangrila, W. W. Walsh, 2.30.10; Lalonga, R. James, 2.35.10; We Too, J. Alexander, 2.47.05; Zephyr II, J. Woodward, 2.51; White Wings, N. Ashe, 3.26.31; Richmond, J. Holden, 3.45.

H. M. Young was officer of the day, starter and timekeeper, carrying out his triple duties to the satisfaction of everyone.

Continue Search

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, May 29 (CP).—Search for two Coast Guard officers and five enlisted men who went to the rescue of two stranded fishing boats and have been missing for more than a week is being continued by land, sea and air, the district Coast Guard headquarters announced.

The two fishing vessels, the Loangen and the Alaskan, became grounded and the Coastguardsmen, after going to their aid, signalled they also were in danger. A second group of guardsmen went to their assistance but were unable to find trace either of the boat or the crew. Ten extra life jackets which the boat carried were found along the shore. Location of the mishap was not disclosed.

Discuss Bus Terminal With City Committee

Establishment of a bus terminal on their own property immediately behind their Douglas Street salesrooms instead of a loading zone on the north side of Johnson Street, near Douglas Street, has been suggested to the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd., by Alderman Edward Williams, chairman of the public works committee.

Company officials asked that the loading zone be set up for the Mount Tolmie buses, which commence operations on Thursday, but have expressed a willingness to meet the public works committee today to discuss their proposal, Alderman Williams stated.

On the suggestion advanced by the city's committee, the buses would be asked to turn north at Johnson and Blanshard Streets to Pandora Avenue, and then down Pandora Avenue to the proposed terminus. Present routing calls for the buses to reach Douglas Street via Johnson Street.

Kenneth Schubert, R.C.A.F., whose wife lives at nearby Armstrong, today was reported missing in action overseas. F.O. Schubert is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Schubert, of Asheroft.
